Lance's Use Of Planes Under Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department's criminal fraud division is studying the results of a new government investigation that reportedly delves into Bert Lance's personal use of bank-owned aircraft.

A spokesman for the Justice Department confirmed Sunday that the fraud division had received the report from the comptroller of the currency, but said the referral of the study was "routine" and "did not necessarily indicate there would be any prosecution."

While confirming the existence and the routing of the comptroller of the currency's report, the Justice Department spokesman refused to discuss the contents.

But the Washington Post said in today's editions that the report says Lance, who heads the Office of Management and Budget for President Carter, used two planes owned by the Georgia banks he headed to take personal vacations, to fly his children to school, to commute and to take part in politics.

The report came amid new suggestions that Lance resign to avoid embarrassment to President Carter and as the Senate Government Affairs Committee prepared for its second week of hearings into the Lance case.

President Carter scheduled a Wednesday news conference, which will doubtlessly be taken up by questions on the Lance affair. Lance is scheduled to testify before the Senate committee Thursday and there were reports that the White House was considering changing the time of the President's news conference.

The comptroller of the currency's report was shown on Saturday to members and staff employees of the Senate committee, which last week began hearings to look into questionable practices allegedly used by Lance while he headed the National Bank of Georgia and the Calhoun (Ga.) First National Bank.

Quoting sources said to have seen parts of the comptroller's report, the Post said the controls the banks used to keep track of the airplanes used by Lance were so loose that even the pilot was able to take personal trips in the aircraft.

The Post said Lance asserted in the report that the trips he took in the planes were business-related and therefore properly charged to the banks.

If the trips were not business-related, Lance could be in violation of securities and tax laws.

Meanwhile, a Newsweek-Gallup special telephone survey of 501 persons last Thursday showed 54 per cent think Carter has tried too hard to protect Lance, a long-time personal friend. Midge Costanza, special presidential assistant for public liaison, said in Rochester, N.Y., on Saturday that Lance should resign "to relieve the President of this burden."

And Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia said Saturday that Lance's resignation is inevitable because his effectiveness and credibility have been destroyed.

BAND FESTIVAL WINNERS — The Circleville High School Tiger Marching Band won first place in the Carroll Festival of Bands and Ox Roast Saturday. The Tiger Band won first in the marching competition, West Jefferson was second, Paint Valley placed third and Canal Winchester and Bloom-Carroll were honor bands. The band, under the direction of Allen Howcroft, is scheduled to compete in the Pickerington Marching Festival Sept. 24.

Fuel Costs Raise Price Of Flowers

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

In bouquets, arrangements and bunches, Americans buy billions of flowers every year and the same inflation that has been eroding buying power in other areas has boosted the price of the blossoms.

Industry spokesmen blame higher fuel costs for much of the increase. Many flowers are grown in greenhouses and the natural gas to heat the greenhouses has risen in price. Labor, materials and shipping charges also are more expensive.

"Energy costs alone have tripled in the past three years," said Douglas Gordon of the Denver Wholesale Florist Co., which ships about 80 million carnations a year from Colorado — the nation's biggest carnation producer — to the rest of the country and overseas. Labor, fertilizer and pesticides also have gone up sharply, he said.

Flower prices vary widely from area to area and season to season, making it difficult to compile statistics on percentage increases. Price rises over the past year or two generally have ranged from 10 to 50 cents a flower, however. Long-stemmed roses start at about $1.50 each in big cities.

Gordon, who handles flowers from 85 growers, said the average cost of producing one carnation is 11 cents, but prices for individual flowers vary, according to quality. The top grade brings 22 cents a blossom; the bottom grade, "practically nothing."

At the retail level, he said, you might get a dozen carnations for $3 or less in the supermarket or at a street stand or you might pay $10 or more for an arrangement delivered from a florist.

Part of the difference in cost between the grower and retail levels is shipping charges. Getting the flowers from the market in Denver to the wholesaler or retailer in other parts of the country — usually by air, in boxes holding anywhere from 700 to 1,000 blooms — adds four cents to the cost of each carnation, Gordon said.

Spoilage also boosts prices. The wholesaler and retailer do not know exactly what the demand will be and have to have enough on hand to anticipate buyers. Sometimes, they have too much. The flower seller is "faced with a lot of spoilage," said Gordon. He said he could not estimate exactly how many of the blossoms he ships are never sold, but said it was possible that the loss was as much as one in four.

Roses are even more delicate, Gordon said. "They have to be cut at the right hour and sold immediately," he added.

Commissioners Hear Workshop Proposals

Jay Clevenger, executive director of Pickaway County programs for the mentally retarded, today presented two proposals to Pickaway County Commissioners for a new workshop.

Construction of a new workshop fell by the wayside early this spring when all bids for it were over the architect's estimate of cost. Delay killed a chance to acquire the A&P building to house the workshop.

Last week the 169 board explored other possibilities for renting, building or purchasing a site. Today's proposals were made at the request of the commissioners.

Proposal I presented by Clevenger was to proceed with the workshop plans for construction on Route 22 east of a 7,000 square foot facility.

Construction contract is estimated at $331,000 and other expenditures at $69,000 for a total cost of $400,000. The county's share of the costs would be $200,000 and the state would reimburse the county for the remaining $200,000. This plan is designed for 50 clients, Clevenger pointed out, and the 169 board would have to begin immediately with plans to enlarge the building. There are currently 52 clients in the workshop for the mentally retarded which is housed in the Ankrom Building on the Pickaway County Fairground. Projected enrollment by 1980 will exceed 76 clients.

The other proposal was to expand the plans to 10,000 square feet. Estimated total cost of this structure was $600,000 with 50 per cent to be paid by the county and 50 per cent by the state.

Clevenger pointed out the funds for construction are available within the current budget of the mentally retarded program for either proposal. However, he said there will be a definite cash flow problem during March and April of 1978 and of 1979. He said the programs will either have to operate in the red during those periods or receive assistance from the commissioners, which would be paid back.

Westinghouse Uranium Suit Could Raise Utility Rates

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Westinghouse Electric Co. is defending its cancellation of uranium supply contracts with utilities serving 33 million customers in a federal court suit that could raise utility rates.

If Westinghouse is forced to pay the $2.5 billion asked by the utilities, it could have a serious impact on the giant firm. If Westinghouse wins, it could mean higher bills for consumers.

The utilities have asked Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. to compel Westinghouse to sell them uranium at between $8 and $12 per pound in the case that was scheduled to go to trial today.

Invoking the legal doctrine of impossibility, Westinghouse says the contracts were signed before the wholesale price of uranium soared to $40 per pound, following general increases in all fuel prices because of the Arab oil embargo. Westinghouse contends an international cartel increased the prices.

Two years ago last week, Westinghouse announced it was canceling long-term contracts to supply a total 80 million pounds of uranium over periods varying from contract to contract.

The company distributed or allocated 15 million pounds last year, according to published reports, but that uranium had been purchased before the prices went up. The published accounts quote the utilities as saying Westinghouse was to have delivered another 47 million pounds by the end of last year.

Some plaintiffs in the contract trial say consumer costs won't be increased.

"The price of uranium could go up quite a bit without having an effect on consumers," said Gene Hosansky, spokesman for the Long Island Lighting Company, a New York firm involved in the suit.

In a telephone interview early today, Hosansky acknowledged that a small amount of uranium produces a large amount of energy, so any price hike per pound would be spread over a large number of customers. He could not supply exact figures. He also pointed out that a loss of uranium would increase dependence on more expensive fossil fuels.

If Westinghouse loses, even if it isn't required to pay $2.5 billion in damages, it would cost nearly that much if it were compelled to sell $40-a-pound uranium at $12 a pound.

In all, 17 lawsuits involving 27 utilities have been filed against Westinghouse. One case involving three Pittsburgh-area utilities was settled out of court in March. The 10 utilities involved in the current case had filed separate suits, and had their cases consolidated.

A local federal court official said last week that three other contract cases, cut from the trial list in an earlier order by Judge Merhige, could end up being heard here at a later date.

Senate Considers Bill To Ban 'Gas Guzzlers'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is ready to take on inefficient, fuel-hungry automobiles as it considers legislation that would prohibit automakers from building any more "gas guzzlers."

A ban on cars that get less than 16 miles per gallon beginning in 1980 and increasing to 21 miles per gallon by 1985 is part of an energy conservation bill scheduled for Senate action today.

The Senate will spend most of the week on energy legislation, playing a game of catch-up with the House, which passed its version of President Carter's energy program early last month.

After disposing of a number of minor bills today, the House will turn its attention on Tuesday to legislation to raise the $2.30-per-hour minimum wage to $2.65, effective Jan. 1.

And the financial troubles of President Carter's budget director, Bert Lance, will continue to command congressional attention this week. Lance goes before the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee on Thursday to defend his transactions as a Georgia banker, before he joined the administration.

Both the chairman and ranking minority member of that panel — Sens. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Charles Percy, R-Ill. — have already recommended that Lance resign.

A gas-guzzler tax, along with other tax aspects of the administration's energy plan — including a wellhead tax on oil and new taxes on industrial use of oil and natural gas — are before the Senate Finance Committee, expected to begin taking votes this week.

And a deeply divided Senate Energy Committee will try again today to act on President Carter's natural gas pricing plan. Carter wants to continue price controls on natural gas, but at higher levels. But as of late last week, the panel was said to be divided 9-9 between that plan and a rival one, backed by the industry, calling for lifting the price controls entirely.

Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said the natural gas bill will be taken up by the Senate as soon as the measure comes out of the committee. If necessary, he said, the full chamber may be called on to resolve the gas pricing dispute.

In other congressional action, a House Ways and Means subcommittee scheduled work today on President Carter's proposals for overhauling the nation's troubled Social Security system.

And a House-Senate conference committee is working on the $460 billion federal budget bills for fiscal year 1978, passed in slightly different forms by each chamber. Leaders are hopeful the legislation will be ready for final congressional action by Thursday.

OFU Requests More Funding For Farming

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Farmers Union has called for increased funding of the federal Food and Agriculture Act of 1977.

Without an $700 million increase of the $5.6 billion federal agricultural budget, farm commodity prices will drop, union President J. Mike Louiso said.

"Financial institutions that loan money to farmers will verify that the drastic drop in farm commodity prices caused by the overproduction which our government requested is going to bankrupt thousands of efficient American family farmers," Louiso said in a telegram to the U.S. Senate Budget Committee.

Beef Cookoff Is Thursday In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Beef Cookoff will be held in Columbus Thursday and Friday with 45 amateur chefs set to compete for $1,750 in prize money — $1,000 of it for first place.

The cookoff is sponsored by the American National CowBelles, the auxiliary of the National Cattlemen's Association.

The cookoff is designed to feature less tender as well as less expensive cuts of beef, such as brisket, round, chuck and rump. Each recipe must use two to five pounds of beef with a cooking time of less than four hours.

Second prize winner in the cookoff will receive $500 with $250 going for third place.

Latin American Governments Approve Panama Canal Pact

MEXICO CITY, (AP) — Latin American governments approve of the new Panama Canal treaty, but a few countries, notably Mexico and Brazil, are less enthusiastic than others, an Associated Press survey shows.

Some express concern that eventual Panamanian control of the canal over a period of 23 years will result in increases in transit fees.

While some right-wing military leaders in the area privately express pleasure that the treaty allows the United States to continue canal defense, others express misgivings.

There is general agreement, however, that the treaty will lead to better relations between the United States and Latin America.

The AP survey indicates most Latin American governments agree with the Costa Rican foreign minister, Gonzalo Facio. He said the treaty signing in Washington last week "erased the last vestige of colonialism remaining in America, and a new era arrived in which the relations of the United States with Latin American nations will be better."

President Carlos Andres Perez of Venezuela said President Carter had "passed the test" in his dealings with Latin America.

Neighboring Colombia said the treaty "should put an end to a remainder of colonial rule in Latin America."

But President Jose Lopez Portillo of Mexico turned down an invitation to the signing ceremony and sent Foreign Minister Santiago Roel to Washington. The semi-official newspaper El Sol said Lopez Portillo was unhappy with the separate treaty which allows the United States to defend the canal if its neutrality is threatened.

Mexico accepted the Declaration of Washington, signed by other hemispheric governments shortly before the treaty ceremony, only after the elimination of a paragraph recognizing the right of the United States to defend the canal even after the year 2000, when Panama gets full control.

Brazil, governed by the military since 1964, has remained officially silent about the treaty. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the day after the signing, "We only received the official texts a couple of days ago. We are still analyzing and studying them."

In Chile, where relations with the United States are at a low point over human rights violations, the government newspaper El Cronica said in an editorial that the treaty was "particularly positive" because it permits continued U.S. military security of the canal.

This attitude is shared in Argentina, where the military government's policy has been to support a solution equitable for both countries rather than total support for Panama.

It is generally recognized that the potential for improved U.S. relations with Latin America will be shattered if the Senate fails to ratify the treaty.

Ev Bauman, the associate director of the Caracas, Venezuela, English-language Daily Journal, suggested that "far more important support for Carter may come from the U.S. business community when it becomes clear in New York corporate board rooms that Latin American investments may be endangered by the backlash expected if the Senate rejects the treaty."

New Israeli Peace Plan Similar To Earlier Offers

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The new Israeli peace plan which Prime Minister Menahem Begin's government is sending to the United States next week apparently differs little in its major provisions from what the previous Labor governments were prepared to offer.

Begin's cabinet at its weekly meeting Sunday approved the proposed peace treaty Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan will take to Washington and the U.N. General Assembly. Officially, the details were secret, but the major provisions have been leaked, and the Arabs have already rejected them.

Israel's territorial demands — the key issue as far as the Arabs are concerned — are not outlined in the draft treaty but are contained in an accompanying letter which Dayan will deliver to President Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance.

"The letter spells out general principles, most of which the Americans already know," a Foreign Ministry official said. "For example the problems of security, of defense of the sources of the Jordan River or of freedom of navigation through the Gulf of Eilat."

In terms of the territory occupied in the 1967 Arab-Israeli War, this mean retention of a strong position on the Golan Heights, overlooking the upper Jordan River and the Sea of Galilee, and along the east coast of the Sinai peninsula commanding the approach to Eilat, Israel's southern port.

For the West Bank of the Jordan

River, the new draft adopts the Labor government's plan for a string of Israeli military positions along the river.

The plan abandons the previous governments' vague offers to return part of the West Bank to Jordan in exchange for a peace treaty. Instead the new draft would continue the present system of Jordanian, Israeli and local control, formalize it in the peace treaty and provide for a sharing of government services to be negotiated by Israel and Jordan.

Dayan is scheduled to arrive in Washington Sept. 19 to discuss the plan with Carter and Vance. Vance is to transmit the Israeli proposals to the foreign ministers of Egypt, Jordan and Syria when he meets them later in the week at the start of the General Assembly in New York.

Rejecting the Israeli proposals, a senior official of the Egyptian Foreign Ministry said Sunday they "show Begin's government has no serious intention of settling the Middle East conflict peacefully."

"The ideas it contains are obsolete," another Egyptian official said.

The two officials repeated the Arabs' basic demands — for Israeli withdrawal from all territory taken in the 1967 war and for a homeland for the Palestinians who fled from Israel when it became a state in 1948.

Utility Users May Get Refund

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Edison Co.'s approximately 700,000 customers would be in line for a $63.3 million refund if the state's Consumers' Counsel has his way.

Counsel William A. Spratley feels the Akron-based company improperly billed its customers by that amount in imposing a fuel adjustment charge on monthly bills to customers between April 1976 and March 1977.

Spratley filed a brief with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Friday supporting his refund contention.

At issue is a section of state law that allows utilities to pass directly to their customers higher fuel costs. Spratley said the money he feels should be refunded is part of a total $207 million in higher fuel costs charged Edison's residential customers in northeast and north central Ohio.

Spratley maintains that the company included $47 million on customer bills for electricity the company bought at wholesale from other utilities.

"There is nothing (in the law) to specifically suggest that purchased power costs are includable in the fuel adjustment (charges)," the agency's brief claims.

Spratley acknowledged that the PUCO, which examines fuel adjustment charges by utilities at six-month intervals, has allowed purchased electricity to be charged to customers when that electricity is bought wholesale for a cost lower than it could have been produced.

"But there is no indication that the power purchased by Ohio Edison was more economical," Spratley said.

In addition to the $47 million in purchased electricity, Spratley contends that Edison customers need not have paid the company $11.5 million the utility believes it lost when Westinghouse Corp. was unable to deliver on an uranium contract.

WOSU-TV Sets Pesticides & Pests Series

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — All agricultural producers handling restricted-use pesticides must be certified by the Ohio Department of Agriculture before Oct. 21.

In preparation for this, WOSU-TV at Ohio State University will telecast a five-lesson series on pests and pesticides starting Sept. 20.

The programs will be telecast twice each at 6:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Fridays.

Sept. 20 and 23 will feature a program on general terms and the need for pesticides. Sept. 27 and 30 will deal with identification of pests and control measures.

Oct. 4 and 7 will discuss chemical terms, toxicity and application. Safety precautions and equipment disposal will be the subject Oct. 11 and 14, followed by labels, legal requirements and regulations Oct. 18 and 21.

Ohio Has Bumper Crop Of Cantaloupe

By The Associated Press

There is good news from northwestern Ohio for cantaloupe lovers. This year is promising a bumper crop.

The early crop matured late and the late crop matured early, according to Russell Schroeder, Lucas County Cooperative Extension horticulture agent.

As a result, roadside stands and supermarket fruit bins are groaning under a load of melons.

Schroeder called melons one of the best buys of the season, being high in vitamins and minerals and low in price. He recommended choosing cantaloupes with a deep rosy yellow color and discernable netting on the surface.

He also said buyers should use their nose to determine the best melon. Shaking the cantaloupe doesn't necessarily help pick the best one, Schroeder said, "But if it makes you feel any better, go ahead and shake."

Tests May Shed Light On Disease Mystery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Test results expected this week from the federal Center for Disease Control may give state health officials new clues to unravel the Legionnaires disease mystery.

Topping the list of theories about the disease's cause is the possibility there may be some link between the disease and construction at Riverside Hospital where all five confirmed Legionnaires victims have been patients.

"We want to find the source of the disease as soon as possible," said Dr. Thomas J. Halpin, chief of the state Health Department's communicable disease division. "If it's the hospital, then it's the hospital but we don't want to frighten patients or employees when we're not sure."

The low incidence so far of traces of the malady in the blood samples of Riverside employees argues against a hospital-related cause.

"If there was an intense exposure at the hospital, you would expect more hospital employees to have positive tests," Halpin said.

Only three of 140 hospital employees tested had antibodies of the disease in their blood samples, he said. The two women and a man who had the illness apparently had been exposed to it early in the summer and have fully recovered.

Tests on construction workers employed at the site of a three-story addition being built at the hospital may reveal new information, Halpin said.

Officials have theorized that the disease could be linked to soil and dust from the excavation site. They suspect that if the bacteria causing the disease lives in soil it may become airborne during excavation and enter buildings through ventilating systems.

"One of the things we hope for from this investigation is to get some new information about the disease that will be helpful to the general body of knowledge about it," said Dr. John Ackerman, state health department director.

"But some diseases are around for hundreds of thousands of years before it is discovered how they spread. Polio is an example."

A 22-year old woman at Ohio State University Hospital is being tested as a possible Legionnaires victim. Health officials are checking all the hospitals in the city for any patients that show signs of the illness, Ackerman said.

Deaths

MR. MERLE M. HUFFER

Mr. Merle M. Huffer, 61, 500 Stella Ave., died 11:10 a.m., Sunday in Berger Hospital.

Born September 25, 1915, in Stouts-ville, he was the son of Clyde and Minnie Fosnaugh Huffer.

He was a member of Pickaway Lodge 23 F. & A. M., American Legion Post 134, Eastern Star 90, veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his widow, Maybelle Phillips Huffer; one son, David M. Huffer, 486 Dunkle Road; two grandchildren; two brothers, Harold J. Huffer, Circleville; Clyde Huffer, Lebanon, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Robert (Thelma) Carpenter, 336 Monticello Rd., and Mrs. Floyd (Dorothy) Arledge, 8621 Tarlton Road.

Funeral service will be held 2 p.m., Wednesday at the Circleville First Baptist Church, Pastor George Bryant officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Defenbaugh-Wise Funeral Home 7-9 p.m., Monday, and 2-4 and 7-9 Tuesday.

American Legion Post 134 will hold memorial services at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday at the funeral home and graveside services. Masonic service will be held 8 p.m., Tuesday at the funeral home.

The family requests memorial donations be made to the Pickaway County Cancer Fund, and Gideons International.

Commissioners . . .

Liston told Clevenger that before a recommendation could be made, a meeting must be held with the county auditor and the county treasurer concerning the handling of this cash flow problem. "The general fund could not stand the burden of taking on additional financial responsibility at those times."

In other business today, Kenneth Durnbaugh of Art Homes Inc. said the contract for the land for the senior citizen complex will adjourn until Friday when they will meet with Durnbaugh to sign the contract.

William Stout and Ed Webb of the Pickaway County Airport Authority, and architect Bob Webb met with commissioners to discuss the construction of the hangar at Pickaway County Memorial Airport which will be constructed with federal EDA funds.

Robert Parker of the Pickaway County Engineer's Office approved swales in Swank Acres and in residential development at State Route 674 and U.S. Route 22.

The resignation of John Rittenhouse as custodian was accepted. Rittenhouse said he was resigning because of his health.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market lost ground again today amid expectations of tighter credit.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped nearly 2 points in early trading.

Losers took a 3-2 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market fell sharply last Thursday and Friday as the Federal Reserve listed a $3 billion jump in the money supply for the latest reporting week.

The news prompted fears that the Fed would begin tightening credit further in its effort to curb inflationary pressures by restraining the growth of the money supply.

Today's early prices included International Telephone & Telegraph, down 1/4 at 31 1/2; Whirlpool, off 1/4 at 24, and Burroughs, unchanged at 68 1/2.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 11.09 to 857.07 for its sharpest setback in more than six weeks.

The Dow's 15.24-point drop for the week left it just above the 19-month low of 854.12 it reached on Aug. 25.

Losers outnumbered gainers by more than a 5-2 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume remained sluggish at 18.48 million shares.

The NYSE's composite index fell .48 to 52.74, and the American Stock Exchange market value index was down .57 at 118.34.

Prices paid to farmers by Pickaway Grain were:

Latin American Governments Approve Panama Canal Pact

MEXICO CITY, (AP) — Latin American governments approve of the new Panama Canal treaty, but a few countries, notably Mexico and Brazil, are less enthusiastic than others, an Associated Press survey shows.

Some express concern that eventual Panamanian control of the canal over a period of 23 years will result in increases in transit fees.

While some right-wing military leaders in the area privately express pleasure that the treaty allows the United States to continue canal defense, others express misgivings.

There is general agreement, however, that the treaty will lead to better relations between the United States and Latin America.

The AP survey indicates most Latin American governments agree with the Costa Rican foreign minister, Gonzalo Facio. He said the treaty signing in Washington last week "erased the last vestige of colonialism remaining in America, and a new era arrived in which the relations of the United States with Latin American nations will be better."

President Carlos Andres Perez of Venezuela said President Carter had "passed the test" in his dealings with Latin America.

Neighboring Colombia said the treaty "should put an end to a remainder of colonial rule in Latin America."

But President Jose Lopez Portillo of Mexico turned down an invitation to the signing ceremony and sent Foreign Minister Santiago Roel to Washington. The semi-official newspaper El Sol said Lopez Portillo was unhappy with the separate treaty which allows the United States to defend the canal if its neutrality is threatened.

Mexico accepted the Declaration of Washington, signed by other hemispheric governments shortly before the treaty ceremony, only after the elimination of a paragraph recognizing the right of the United States to defend the canal even after the year 2000, when Panama gets full control.

Brazil, governed by the military since 1964, has remained officially silent about the treaty. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said the day after the signing, "We only received the official texts a couple of days ago. We are still analyzing and studying them."

In Chile, where relations with the United States are at a low point over human rights violations, the government newspaper El Cronica said in an editorial that the treaty was "particularly positive" because it permits continued U.S. military security of the canal.

This attitude is shared in Argentina, where the military government's policy has been to support a solution equitable for both countries rather than total support for Panama.

It is generally recognized that the potential for improved U.S. relations with Latin America will be shattered if the Senate fails to ratify the treaty.

Ev Bauman, the associate director of the Caracas, Venezuela, English-language Daily Journal, suggested that "far more important support for Carter may come from the U.S. business community when it becomes clear in New York corporate board rooms that Latin American investments may be endangered by the backlash expected if the Senate rejects the treaty."

Sentencing

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jesse Coulter, convicted of holding 11 persons hostage at a Cincinnati home for unwed mothers in an attempt to find a son surrendered for adoption 20 years ago, faced sentencing today in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

He could be sentenced to from 93 to 310 years in prison.

Coulter was charged with 11 counts of kidnapping, four counts of felonious assault and one count of illegal weapon possession in connection with last February's 15-hour siege at the Catherine Booth Home.

The 42-year-old Utica, Mich., man was found guilty Saturday on all 16 counts after a jury deliberated about 12 hours. During the four-day trial, his attorneys contended Coulter was innocent by reason of insanity. They claimed Coulter was driven to his acts to reunite his family after watching the television series, "Roots."

Judge Thomas Nurre received the guilty verdict about midnight Friday, but refused it, ordering the jury to continue deliberations when one juror stated he had reservations about the finding.

It occurred after the defense requested a poll of each juror. The juror, Orien Stokes, signed his verdict "with reservations."

An hour later, the jury returned with a final guilty plea.

Stokes explained later that he agreed with the jurors that Coulter "is insane. We hope he gets treatment. But he is legally sane. We feel he knew the difference between right and wrong."

Coulter said he felt like he had been "railroaded." He felt the jury did not understand the law concerning insanity. The jury, on three occasions, asked Judge Nurre for guidance, but informed them he was not permitted to assist them.

Defense attorney Eugene Smith said he will appeal the jury's verdict. Several attempts by Smith to have a mistrial called failed.

Guard Charges Red Cross Sold Food Supplies

WILLIAMSON, W.Va. (AP) — The lack of tight controls on Red Cross volunteers may have resulted in black marketeering of food and blankets in floodstricken southern West Virginia last spring, an agency official admits.

Army National Guard units have charged that Red Cross volunteers and some lower-level Red Cross staff members were making money by selling emergency supplies.

One guardsman said he asked a man driving a vehicle with a Red Cross insignia for a blanket for a child.

"If you've got ten dollars, I've got a blanket," he quoted the driver as saying.

John Kain, Red Cross public relations director in the agency's regional office in Roanoke, Va., admitted that controls at Williamson were not tight. He said it was possible that some people got Red Cross goods which they sold elsewhere.

A Page Of Opinion

Coal Agreement Vital

While much of the nation watched with only passive interest the widespread wildcat strikes which crippled the Appalachian coalfields for a large part of the summer, the coal which wasn't mined this summer could play a heavy role in the negotiations for a new coal industry labor contract this fall.

The existing contract expires in December, right in the midst of the coldest part of the year. If management and labor are able to come to terms without a shutdown of the industry, the depleted coal stocks caused by the wildcat strikes should not have a serious effect on supplies as the winter progresses.

But that is an "if" which worries many observers. United Mine Workers management was less than adroit in controlling the wildcatters. Can it negotiate a new contract without disruption, and if it does will the members accept it?

If the answer to either of those questions is "no," the nation could be in trouble. Utility companies, manufacturing industries and others who depend upon coal could face slowdowns or even shutdown if there is any major disruption in the coal industry.

Our Problems

By JIM BISHOP

Ours has always been a society of achievement. Some people have goals. Others do not. The losers work for the winners. For two centuries, the system worked to make America the most powerful democracy in history.

This has been altered in 30 years. The worker bees support the drones. For the first time, minorities have more rights than the majority. President Carter has said he supports "affirmative action." This means the acceptance of blacks and Hispanics into college with lower entrance marks than whites.

I will not demean the President by saying that this is a payoff for Election Day support. It's worse. He believes it is good for the country to promote the mediocre.

Carter's comrade-in-arms, Time magazine, discovered a couple of weeks ago that the United States has an "underclass." We had them when the "underclass" was white. They are do-nots, will-nots, have-nots.

At the risk of inudation with hate mail, I disagree with the premise that the "underclass is made up mostly of impoverished urban blacks, who still suffer from the heritage of slavery and discrimination."

I could fill this page with the names of black achievers. There is an underclass in Angola, the Congo, Uganda, Zambia and Nigeria and they do not suffer a heritage of slavery. In percentages, their underclass is greater than ours.

Eighty-eight per cent of America is white. Eleven per cent is black. Sixty-six per cent of all prisoners are black. The composition of the underclass is a constant: school dropouts, juvenile delinquents, the indolent, alcoholics and drug addicts. A new element has been added: welfare families.

What Mr. Carter needs is: (1) To concede that there is widespread discrimination against blacks; and (2) start a Federal job program commensurate with the abilities of youthful blacks and family heads.

College is no closer to a practical solution than sending a case of champagne to every dropout. The poverty level has dropped from 22 per cent 18 years ago to 12 per cent. Today, close to half of all black families earn $10,000 a year.

To some, the success of blacks in politics and banks and industry worsens the problem. Naomi Chambers, black social worker, says, "Now that some black people have cars, dresses and shoes, there is jealousy. Jealousy can make me hate you and take what you have."

None were further below the poverty level than immigrant Jews, Irish, Poles and Italians. No one wanted to give them a dime or a break. As ethnic groups they did not resort to theft or looting. This great land glanced at them with a cold eye and said, "Make it on your own, or starve."

Time magazines lists 1,061,000 of the jobless as "discouraged." These have decided not to look for work. The rest of us support them with our taxes. Then there are almost two and a half million mothers on welfare. It is harsh, but accurate, to state that their skill seems to lie in getting pregnant.

Common justice tells us that we should continue to support the 4.5 million persons, black and white, who are disabled. These are not employable. It is time, and beyond time, for Joseph Califano Jr. to stop sending checks to able-bodied persons who do not want to work.

The unemployment rate among white heads of families is 6.1 per cent. Among blacks it is 13.2 per cent. For white teenagers it is 14.3 per cent and for black teenagers it is 39 per cent. If the President is looking for injustice, it lies in those figures.

In groups, the blacks are no closer to agreement about problems and solutions than whites. A Harlem woman said, "Everybody steals. Politicians steal. What's the use to bust my - from 9 to 5 to get $100 a week?" In California a black historian disagreed: "Permanency of jobs, stability in an economic situation, is important. Even if someone is only a janitor, his job still means stability."

The President speaks of college as though it is a solution to starvation. He would do better to listen to Richard McNish, who runs a job training program in black Watts:

"Kids aren't required to produce to get a diploma. Nothing is required except to be cool and not try to kill the teacher."

They don't know how to read and write."

Like some white students I know . . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNNEIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a timid mouse that is startled in the night, the stock market again has scampered back into its hole, its heart pounding, its mind made up not to expose itself again until it is absolutely safe.

When that might be cannot be told. Everyone but institutional investors seem to know you cannot play the stock market game without taking risk. But that is what the institutions are trying to do — get rid of risk.

That is, the mutual and pension funds and bank trusts and the like have opted for conservation rather than appreciation. They are trying to cut their losses rather than enlarge the size of their holdings.

This might be permissible if the money were all theirs, but it isn't. It is other people's money, given to them for investment and appreciation, at which they are supposed to be expert and for which they take a fee.

The assumption is that the managers of these institutions are better equipped to make the money grow, that they are more knowledgeable than others and so can play the riskreward game with the greatest erudition.

Today, however, their judgment is to decline risk. Many fiduciaries have taken the position that nobody can outplay the market and that therefore a "winning" performance is to do merely as good as the averages.

In pursuit of this mediocre goal, some fiduciaries have abrogated their responsibilities. Instead of choosing the best few stocks in which to invest, they choose them all. In that way they can't do worse than the averages.

There is nothing wrong with refusing to take risk — and thereby foregoing the rewards — if it is fully understood by those who own the money and who give it to these third parties for investment.

For the most part though, the client's intention is to see his funds grow. If he wanted merely to conserve, then he could have chosen bonds or savings accounts and saved himself the management fee.

Nevertheless, conservation is the goal of many portfolio managers today, and the absurdity of this becomes obvious when you realize that except for utilities and certain other issues, the stock market is hardly the place in which to conserve. It is, and always has been, the place where you take risk.

While the institutionalized market, which is to say the New York Stock Exchange on many days, is suffering sharp declines, some lesser known stocks have been progressively stronger.

These are risk stocks, stock of small but growing companies. They are too small to attract the institutions. Their clientele is made up of individuals instead of insurers, and mutual and pension funds and trusts.

Chicago Students Protest

CHICAGO (AP) — Three persons were seriously injured Sunday night when a car carrying blacks drove through a crowd of whites holding a candlelight rally in protest of Chicago's voluntary school desegregation program, authorities said.

"Some blacks just got by my blockade before I cut it (traffic) off," said District Police Commander William Woods. "They were attacked by white youths. They got excited and tried to get out of the area and struck several kids. They went on without stopping."

Holy Cross Hospital reported receiving two teen-age girls and one teen-age boy and said they were in serious to critical condition.

The incident occurred on the city's Southwest Side. Police Lt. Robert Gaides estimated that "half a dozen" persons were arrested after the incident, mostly for disorderly conduct and failure to obey a police officer's order to disperse.

Both former U.S. Presidents Warren G. Harding and Harry Truman were members of the Baptist Church.

Janelle Commissiong, of Trinidad-Tobago, was the first black woman to be crowned Miss Universe. She was given the title in July 1977.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Part of my stomach was removed because of an ulcer. I perspire and get palpitations after I eat. This was explained as a "dumping" condition. I don't understand it.

Mr. M.B., Mont.

Dear Mr. B.:

When a large part of the stomach has been removed because of an ulcer or tumor, a sudden, large mass of food can be dumped directly into the upper intestinal tract.

This "dumping" syndrome brings with it nausea, weakness, a rapid heartbeat and profuse perspiration. The dumping disorder occurs less frequently now that more refined surgical techniques make it unnecessary to remove large parts of the stomach.

It is believed that some of the symptoms are produced by a sudden outpouring of insulin from the pancreas. This unpleasant feeling becomes less and less marked, especially when patients learn to eat smaller quantities of food at more regular intervals. Try taking a short period of rest after eating. It may help reduce the frequency and severity of the dumping complaint.

Some surgeons will provide special diets for such patients. A number of drugs, too, have been used to relieve these panic-producing sensations.

Can glycerine suppositories become harmful if used repeatedly from constipation?

Mr. H. G., Tenn.

Dear Mr. G.:

Of all the methods used to relieve constipation, the use of glycerine suppositories is probably the least irritating. It works by stimulating the lower bowel and rectal area.

It's really amazing how few people

CHICAGO (AP) — Kenneth G. Johnson, of Aurora, Ill., has been appointed director of the division of conservation and environment of the regional office of the Federal Energy Administration.

As director, Johnson will be responsible for the implementation of all of FEA's energy conservation and environment programs in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin.

The division is the primary federal organization awarding and managing energy conservation grants to state governments.

Johnson has been with the FEA since 1975. He was employed 24 years previously by the Illinois Institute of Technology Research Institute.

bother to learn why they have chronic constipation. For many who have become dependent on laxatives or suppositories it comes as a surprise that there are better ways of reducing constipation.

The first step is not to become obsessed with the need for the "daily bowel movement." Many people in perfectly good health have a bowel movement every two or three days.

It's surprising how often people can be weaned away from their drugs if they go on a well-regulated diet, with sufficient roughage and an increase in the amount of water intake. Many doctors believe that six to eight glasses of water a day is all that is needed to keep the bowels "regular."

Coal Agreement Vital

While much of the nation watched with only passive interest the widescale wildcat strikes which crippled the Appalachian coalfields for a large part of the summer, the coal which wasn't mined this summer could play a heavy role in the negotiations for a new coal industry labor contract this fall.

The existing contract expires in December, right in the midst of the coldest part of the year. If management and labor are able to come to terms without a shutdown of the industry, the depleted coal stocks caused by the wildcat strikes should not have a serious effect on supplies as the winter progresses.

But that is an "if" which worries many observers. United Mine Workers management was less than adroit in controlling the wildcaters. Can it negotiate a new contract without disruption, and if it does will the members accept it?

If the answer to either of those questions is "no," the nation could be in trouble. Utility companies, manufacturing industries and others who depend upon coal could face slowdowns or even shutdown if there is any major disruption in the coal industry.

Our Problems

By JIM BISHOP

Ours has always been a society of achievement. Some people have goals. Others do not. The losers work for the winners. For two centuries, the system worked to make America the most powerful democracy in history.

This has been altered in 30 years. The worker bees support the drones. For the first time, minorities have more rights than the majority. President Carter has said he supports "affirmative action." This means the acceptance of blacks and Hispanics into college with lower entrance marks than whites.

I will not demean the President by saying that this is a payoff for Election Day support. It's worse. He believes it is good for the country to promote the mediocre.

Carter's comrade-in-arms, Time magazine, discovered a couple of weeks ago that the United States has an "underclass." We had them when the "underclass" was white. They are do-nots, will-nots, have-nots.

At the risk of inundation with hate mail, I disagree with the premise that the "underclass" is made up mostly of impoverished urban blacks, who still suffer from the heritage of slavery and discrimination.

I could fill this page with the names of black achievers. There is an underclass in Angola, the Congo, Uganda, Zambia and Nigeria and they do not suffer a heritage of slavery. In percentages, their underclass is greater than ours.

Eighty-eight per cent of America is white. Eleven per cent is black. Sixty-six per cent of all prisoners are black. The composition of the underclass is a constant: school dropouts, juvenile delinquents, the indolent, alcoholics and drug addicts. A new element has been added: welfare families.

What Mr. Carter needs is: (1) To concede that there is widespread discrimination against blacks; and (2) start a Federal job program commensurate with the abilities of youthful blacks and family heads.

College is no closer to a practical solution than sending a case of champagne to every dropout. The poverty level has dropped from 22 per cent 18 years ago to 12 per cent. Today, close to half of all black families earn $10,000 a year.

To some, the success of blacks in politics and banks and industry worsens the problem. Naomi Chambers, black social worker, says, "Now that some black people have cars, dresses and shoes, there is jealousy. Jealousy can make me hate you and take what you have."

None were further below the poverty level than immigrant Jews, Irish, Poles and Italians. No one wanted to give them a dime or a break. As ethnic groups they did not resort to theft or looting. This great land glanced at them with a cold eye and said, "Make it on your own, or starve."

Time magazines lists 1,061,000 of the jobless as "discouraged." These have decided not to look for work. The rest of us support them with our taxes. Then there are almost two and a half million mothers on welfare. It is harsh, but accurate, to state that their skill seems to lie in getting pregnant.

Common justice tells us that we should continue to support the 4.5 million persons, black and white, who are disabled. These are not employable. It is time, and beyond time, for Joseph Califano Jr. to stop sending checks to able-bodied persons who do not want to work.

The unemployment rate among white heads of families is 6.1 per cent. Among blacks it is 13.2 per cent. For white teenagers it is 14.3 per cent and for black teenagers it is 39 per cent. If the President is looking for injustice, it lies in those figures.

In groups, the blacks are no closer to agreement about problems and solutions than whites. A Harlem woman said, "Everybody steals. Politicians steal. What's the use to bust my - from 9 to 5 to get $100 a week?" In California a black historian disagreed: "Permanency of jobs, stability in an economic situation, is important. Even if someone is only a janitor, his job still means stability."

The President speaks of college as though it is a solution to starvation. He would do better to listen to Richard McNish, who runs a job training program in black Watts:

"Kids aren't required to produce to get a diploma. Nothing is required except to be cool and not try to kill the teacher. They don't know how to read and write."

Like some white students I know . . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like a timid mouse that is startled in the night, the stock market again has scurried back into its hole, its heart pounding, its mind made up not to expose itself again until it is absolutely safe.

When that might be cannot be told. Everyone but institutional investors seem to know you cannot play the stock market game without taking risk. But that is what the institutions are trying to do — get rid of risk.

That is, the mutual and pension funds and bank trusts and the like have opted for conservation rather than appreciation. They are trying to cut their losses rather than enlarge the size of their holdings.

This might be permissible if the money were all theirs, but it isn't. It is other people's money, given to them for investment and appreciation, at which they are supposed to be expert and for which they take a fee.

The assumption is that the managers of these institutions are better equipped to make the money grow, that they are more knowledgeable than others and so can play the riskward game with the greatest erudition.

Today, however, their judgment is to decline risk. Many fiduciaries have taken the position that nobody can outplay the market and that therefore a "winning" performance is to do merely as good as the averages.

In pursuit of this mediocre goal, some fiduciaries have abrogated their responsibilities. Instead of choosing the best few stocks in which to invest, they choose them all. In that way they can't do worse than the averages.

There is nothing wrong with refusing to take risk — and thereby foregoing the rewards — if it is fully understood by those who own the money and who give it to these third parties for investment.

For the most part though, the client's intention is to see his funds grow. If he wanted merely to conserve, then he could have chosen bonds or savings accounts and saved himself the management fee.

Nevertheless, conservation is the goal of many portfolio managers today, and the absurdity of this becomes obvious when you realize that except for utilities and certain other issues, the stock market is hardly the place in which to conserve. It is, and always has been, the place where you take risk.

While the institutionalized market, which is to say the New York Stock Exchange on many days, is suffering sharp declines, some lesser known stocks have been progressively stronger.

These are risk stocks, stock of small but growing companies. They are too small to attract the institutions. Their clientele is made up of individuals instead of insurers, and mutual and pension funds and trusts.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Lousy Student May Mean Lousy Roomie

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old woman living alone in an apartment and I need a roommate to share expenses.

A 16-year-old boy wants to be my roommate. We work together. His parents kicked him out of the house because he did lousy in school, and he needs a place to live.

What worries me is this: If the boy moves in with me, will I get in trouble because he is a minor and I am an adult? And even if I don't get in trouble with the law, do apartment owners have the right to know whether a couple is married or not?

I'm having my doubts because of this kid's age. Please help.

SECOND THOUGHT
DEAR SECOND: At the risk of sounding like a broken record, if you are concerned about your "rights" and "the law," consult a lawyer. (The law differs from state to state.) You are wise to have second thoughts. A 16-year-old boy who was kicked out by his parents because he did "lousy" in school would probably make a lousy roommate.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law (I'll call her "Nancy") has just had her second miscarriage in two years. Of course we feel very sorry for her because she has no children and she wants a child very much.

The problem, however, is Nancy's mother (my mother-in-law). She has asked everyone in the family not to talk about their children or even mention "babies" in front of Nancy because it might upset her.

Two of us in the family are pregnant right now, and this request seems ridiculous to me. She has even said that out of consideration to Nancy, if there are going to be any baby showers, they should be done "quietly" so Nancy won't know about them.

I would like your opinion on this.

BABY BLUES
DEAR BLUES: Nancy's blues may mean well, but she's protective of Nancy to the point of being unrealistic. Of course you shouldn't allow the subject of babies to dominate the conversation in Nancy's presence, but you also shouldn't go to ridiculous extremes to shield her.

DEAR ABBY: How can I tell my friends that it's in poor taste to question a divorcee about her "ex"? After 24 years of what everyone (even me) thought was a good marriage, my husband ran off with another woman. That was two years ago, and people still ask me, "What do you hear from Lester?"

Joan Mondale Urges Support Of The Arts

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Joan Mondale opened the 75th season of the Minnesota Orchestra, saying she hopes the federal government will recognize the need to increase financial support for the arts.

The wife of Vice President Walter F. Mondale told some 2,000 people at the concert Friday that "support of the arts is a governmental responsibility."

Mrs. Mondale, who has traveled more than 30,000 miles since January visiting schools, museums and concert halls, said government spending on the arts comes to 15 cents a person in the United States, compared to an average of $1.23 a person in Great Britain and $1.40 in Canada.

What do they expect me to hear from him?

Just before our daughter was married last June, people nearly drove me crazy asking, "Is the father going to give her away?" And, "Did you invite 'him' and his new wife to the wedding?"

Abby, I'm not the kind of person who can tell people off, but I'd sure like to know how to respond to questions I hate to answer.

LIBRA
DEAR LIBRA: You are not obligated to answer a question just because it's asked. If you feel that the question is in bad taste, simply say, "I'd rather not talk about it"—then change the subject.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: I have just written a booklet entitled, "HOW TO BE POPULAR: YOU'RE NEVER TOO YOUNG OR TOO OLD." If you feel left out, lonely or wish you knew how to get people to like you, this booklet is for you. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cent) envelope to ABBY: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

In a romantic seashore setting, with the moon overhead, the handsome man sweeps the beautiful woman into his arms. Tenderly he whispers into her ear:

"Did you know that Xerox is a registered trademark of Xerox Corporation and, as a brand name, should be used only to identify its products and services?"

With this and other advertisements, Xerox Corporation is trying to protect a precious asset — its own name.

Under trademark law, if consumers generally start using a brand name as the basic word to describe the product, then the company loses its exclusive rights in the name. "Xeros" would become "xerox" — just another word in the English language, available to one and all.

That fate has already befallen some of the most famous names in the American marketplace. "Linoleum" became linoleum. "Aspirin" became "asprin", "Cellophane" became "cellophane", and "Escalator" became "escalator".

And "yo-yo" and "brassiere" were held unprotectable as "Yo-Yo" and "Brassiere."

Does it matter, legally, that the company made an honest effort to keep its name from slipping into the public domain? The DuPont Company, in trying to save "Cellophane," pointed to its costly campaign to remind customers of its brand name rights.

But the court said effort alone wasn't enough.

"It makes no difference," said the court, "what money the DuPont Company expended in order to persuade the public that 'cellophane' means an article of DuPont manufacture. So far as it did not succeed in actually converting the world to its gospel, it can have no relief."

Voters May Decide Bottle & Can Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here we go again. A group called Ohio Alliance for Returnables (OAR) is off and running with a new scheme aimed at restricting sale of throwaway beer and soft drink containers.

"This legislation simply asks voters to decide which makes more sense," said Rep. Virginia Aveni, a champion of the ban-the-bottle cause; "the expensive, 'convenient,' throwaway beverage container or a system that allows consumers to borrow and return refillable pop and beer bottles and recyclable cans."

Since Miss Aveni's own bill is stalled and the legislature is well on its way to an eighth successive year of inaction on such legislation, OAR has decided to launch a petition drive that could lead to a statewide vote on the issue.

Certainly, the prognosis for legislative action is poor and newsmen could be excused for sensing a deja vu atmosphere at a recent news conference called by bottle bill proponents.

A published report in 1975 noted that "consumer advocates have launched a new drive in the legislature to reduce the proliferation of throwaway cans and bottles." The bill, sponsored by Miss Aveni, D-17 Lyndhurst, was soon filed away and forgotten.

A year earlier a columnist pronounced a similar bill "Dead. Defunct. Deceased. Extinct. Lifeless," after its first hearing. He was right.

Miss Aveni has been unable to move her latest bill out of a House Energy and Environment subcommittee, even though she chairs the panel. The bill would require a 5 to 10 cent deposit on throw-away bottles and cans, making them in effect returnables. It would also ban snap-tab openers.

That would probably discourage sale of nonreturnables and act as an incentive for consumers who went ahead and paid the deposit for a throwaway to return it. The result would be less litter and recycling of what has in the past been discarded as junk, supporters argue.

"It's tantamount to a total ban," says William Costello, lobbyist for the Ohio Manufacturers Association. "If the people didn't want nonreturnables, there wouldn't be any demand for them and they'd stop manufacturing them."

Until, the environmentalists agree to a compromise, Costello is confident Miss Aveni's bill will remain mired in committee. He suggests a phasing out of snap-tabs over a period of several years might be possible rather than an outright ban.

The objections of OMA, the Ohio AFL-CIO, the glass and can industry, steelworkers and retail merchants focus on one basic issue—jobs.

"You're talking about potential loss of 10,000 jobs," Costello claims.

Supporters of the bill claim that employment in distribution and transportation would be increased, but skilled and semiskilled positions in Ohio's big glass and steel factories would almost certainly be affected.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Lousy Student May Mean Lousy Roomie

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old woman living alone in an apartment and I need a roommate to share expenses.

A 16-year-old boy wants to be my roommate. We work together. His parents kicked him out of the house because he did lousy in school, and he needs a place to live.

What worries me is this: If the boy moves in with me, will I get in trouble because he is a minor and I am an adult? And even if I don't get in trouble with the law, do apartment owners have the right to know whether a couple is married or not?

I'm having my doubts because of this kid's age. Please help.

SECOND THOUGHT
DEAR SECOND: At the risk of sounding like a broken record, if you are concerned about your "rights" and "the law", consult a lawyer. (The law differs from state to state.) You are wise to have second thoughts. A 16-year-old boy who was kicked out by his parents because he did "lousy" in school would probably make a lousy roommate.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law (I'll call her "Nancy") has just had her second miscarriage in two years. Of course we feel very sorry for her because she has no children and she wants a child very much.

The problem, however, is Nancy's mother (my mother-in-law). She has asked everyone in the family not to talk about their children or even mention "babies" in front of Nancy because it might upset her.

Two of us in the family are pregnant right now, and this request seems ridiculous to me. She has even said that out of consideration to Nancy, if there are going to be any baby showers, they should be done "quietly" so Nancy won't know about them.

I would like your opinion on this.

BABY BLUES
DEAR BLUES: Nancy's mother may mean well, but she's protective of Nancy to the point of being unrealistic. Of course you shouldn't allow the subject of babies to dominate the conversation in Nancy's presence, but you also shouldn't go to ridiculous extremes to shield her.

DEAR ABBY: How can I tell my friends that it's in poor taste to question a divorcee about her "ex"? After 24 years of what everyone (even me) thought was a good marriage, my husband ran off with another woman. That was two years ago, and people still ask me, "What do you hear from Lester?"

Joan Mondale Urges Support Of The Arts

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Joan Mondale opened the 75th season of the Minnesota Orchestra, saying she hopes the federal government will recognize the need to increase financial support for the arts.

The wife of Vice President Walter F. Mondale told some 2,000 people at the concert Friday that "support of the arts is a governmental responsibility." Mrs. Mondale, who has traveled more than 30,000 miles since January visiting schools, museums and concert halls, said government spending on the arts comes to 15 cents a person in the United States, compared to an average of $1.23 a person in Great Britain and $1.40 in Canada.

What do they expect me to hear from him?

Just before our daughter was married last June, people nearly drove me crazy asking, "Is the father going to give her away?" And, "Did you invite 'him' and his new wife to the wedding?"

Abby, I'm not the kind of person who can tell people off, but I'd sure like to know how to respond to questions I hate to answer.

LIBRA
DEAR LIBRA: You are not obligated to answer a question just because it's asked. If you feel that the question is in bad taste, simply say, "I'd rather not talk about it" then change the subject.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: I have just written a booklet entitled, "HOW TO BE POPULAR: YOU'RE NEVER TOO YOUNG OR TOO OLD." If you feel left out, lonely or wish you knew how to get people to like you, this booklet is for you. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cent) envelope to ABBY: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

In a romantic seashore setting, with the moon overhead, the handsome man sweeps the beautiful woman into his arms. Tenderly he whispers into her ear:

"Did you know that Xerox is a registered trademark of Xerox Corporation and, as a brand name, should be used only to identify its products and services?"

With this and other advertisements, Xerox Corporation is trying to protect a precious asset — its own name.

Under trademark law, if consumers generally start using a brand name as the basic word to describe the product, then the company loses its exclusive rights in the name. "Xeros" would become "xerox" — just another word in the English language, available to one and all.

That fate has already befallen some of the most famous names in the American marketplace. "Linoleum" became linoleum, "Aspirin" became "asprin", "Cellophane" became "cellophane", and "Escalator" became "escalator."

And "yo-yo" and "brassiere" were held unprotected as "Yo-Yo and "Brassiere."

Does it matter, legally, that the company made an honest effort to keep its name from slipping into the public domain? The DuPont Company, in trying to save "Cellophane," pointed to its costly campaign to remind customers of its brand name rights.

But the court said effort alone wasn't enough.

"It makes no difference," said the court, "what money the DuPont Company expended in order to persuade the public that 'cellophane' means an article of DuPont manufacture. So far as it did not succeed in actually converting the world to its gospel, it can have no relief."

Voters May Decide Bottle & Can Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here we go again. A group called Ohio Alliance for Returnables (OAR) is off and running with a new scheme aimed at restricting sale of throwaway beer and soft drink containers.

"This legislation simply asks voters to decide which makes more sense," said Rep. Virginia Aveni, a champion of the ban-the-bottle cause; "the expensive, 'convenient,' throwaway beverage container or a system that allows consumers to borrow and return refillable pop and beer bottles and recyclable cans."

Since Miss Aveni's own bill is stalled and the legislature is well on its way to an eighth successive year of inaction on such legislation, OAR has decided to launch a petition drive that could lead to a statewide vote on the issue.

Certainly, the prognosis for legislative action is poor and newsmen could be excused for sensing a deja vu atmosphere at a recent news conference called by bottle bill proponents.

A published report in 1975 noted that "consumer advocates have launched a new drive in the legislature to reduce the proliferation of throwaway cans and bottles." The bill, sponsored by Miss Aveni, D-17 Lyndhurst, was soon filed away and forgotten.

A year earlier a columnist pronounced a similar bill "Dead. Defunct. Deceased. Extinct. Lifeless," after its first hearing. He was right.

Miss Aveni has been unable to move her latest bill out of a House Energy and Environment subcommittee, even though she chairs the panel. The bill would require a 5 to 10 cent deposit on throw-away bottles and cans, making them in effect returnables. It would also ban snap-tab openers.

That would probably discourage sale of nonreturnables and act as an incentive for consumers who went ahead and paid the deposit for a throwaway to return it. The result would be less litter and recycling of what has in the past been discarded as junk, supporters argue.

"It's tantamount to a total ban," says William Costello, lobbyist for the Ohio Manufacturers Association. "If the people didn't want nonreturnables, there wouldn't be any demand for them and they'd stop manufacturing them."

Until, the environmentalists agree to a compromise, Costello is confident Miss Aveni's bill will remain mired in committee. He suggests a phasing out of snap-tabs over a period of several years might be possible rather than an outright ban.

The objections of OMA, the Ohio AFL-CIO, the glass and can industry, steelworkers and retail merchants focus on one basic issue—jobs.

"You're talking about potential loss of 10,000 jobs," Costello claims. Supporters of the bill claim that employment in distribution and transportation would be increased, but skilled and semiskilled positions in Ohio's big glass and steel factories would almost certainly be affected.

MR. AND MRS. NEVIN ERIC JOHNSTON

August Ceremony Unites Miss Ash-Mr. Johnston

Miss Karen Sue Ash, daughter of Mr. D. R. Ash of Cardington and Mrs. Beryl E. Ash, 24128 Huber Hitler Road, and Mr. Nevin Eric Johnston, son of Mr. Carl Johnston, Laurelvilleville were united in marriage at 2 p.m., August 27.

The Rev. Lynn Summers performed the double ring ceremony before the altar of the Church of God in Laurelvilleville.

The altar was flanked with baskets of white mums.

Organist, Evelyn Boyd presented a program of nuptial selections. Pianist was Miss Cheryl Miller, vocalists were Mrs. William McKinney and Mrs. Gary Blair.

The bride was given in marriage, and approached the altar on the arm of her father. She wore a formal length gown of antique satin which had been fashioned in Tawian for her sister's wedding. The gown featured a round lace yoke with a high neckline, and long sleeves with lace cuffs. Her floor length three tiered veil of illusion was held by a Juliet cap. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white roses, blue carnations, and baby's breath.

Mrs. Edwin Helveston, sister of the bride served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sally Ash, and Miss Sherri Ash sisters of the bride.

Mr. Dennis Johnston performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Joey Justice, and Mr. Bob Carney.

A reception was held in the church social rooms following the ceremony.

The three tiered wedding cake in pale blue was topped with a bride and groom. Arrangements of white carnations and blue snow drift poms flanked the cake.

Hostesses were Mrs. Mable Green, and Miss Sue Burrows. Misses Kelly McKinney and Brenda Blair presided at the guest register.

The bride is a 1977 graduate of Logan Elm High School and is currently employed by Burger Chef.

The bridegroom is a 1974 graduate of Logan Elm High School and is employed as assistant manager of Berger Chef.

The couple will reside at 16329 S. R. 56, Laurelvilleville, Ohio.

Sherick Dance Lessons Begin

The Betty Sherick School of Dancing announces the start of fall classes, September 12 at the studio located in the F.O.E. Hall, 135 E. Main St.

Classes in ballet, tap and jazz will be held for both children and adults.

Pupils of Mrs. Sherick danced at the Ashville Fourth of July Festival and at many other summer festivals and will be dancing at the Circleville Pumpkin Show.

Baby Shower Honors Mrs. Hill

A baby shower was held at 8 p.m., September 3 for Mrs. Stephen Hill, by Mrs. Gary Bartholomew, at her residence 4300 Winchester Southern Road.

Games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Terry Marberger, Mrs. Carl Spangler, and Mrs. Steve Isaac.

Attending the shower were, Mrs. Harley Bush Jr., Ms. Mildred Shellhammer, Mrs. Raymond Spangler, Mrs. Gary Lester, Mrs. Franklin Bartholomew, Ms. Marge Bell, Mrs. Chester Hill, Mrs. Benjamin Charles, Mrs. Terry Marberger and daughter Dawn, Mrs. Tarry Sark, Mrs. Steve Isaac, Mrs. Steve Childs, Mrs. Carl Bay, and Mrs. Richard Pelfry.

If you want a "boiled" white frosting to stay soft, choose a recipe that includes cream of tartar or corn syrup. Both these products help to prevent the crystal growth that gives the frosting a dry sugary crust.

If you use a wooden board for cutting up poultry or meat, scrub it with soap and hot water after using it. This cleaning will keep harmful bacteria from spreading when you use the board to cut up other cooked foods.

at the Pickaway Arms on September 8.

Members and guests were welcomed by President, Diane Bennett.

Following the meal, Joyce Carpenter, vice president, introduced the speaker Robert Ratchford Jr., from the office of the Governor, his topic was "Is Death Preferable?" Mr. Ratchford told the members about "Old Thunderbolt" the electric chair in Ohio. He said that the chair had not been used since March of 1963. The death penalty was originally used for all felonies including incest, disobedience of parents, breaking of the sabbath, etc. At the present time 81 people are on Death Row in Ohio and 380 on Death Row across the United States. Mr. Ratchford described for members Death Row and the cells themselves. He states that he himself had been inside one of the 6' by 8' cells.

Before the State began executing, executions were done in each county. A total of 315 have died in the electric chair since it was first used in Ohio in 1897. Mr. Ratchford stated that it costs the people $5500 per year for maintenance of a regular prisoner. Is Death Preferable?

The business meeting followed the program. All committee chairmen were introduced and committee reports were given. The budget for the 1977-78 year was approved. Several members will be attending the Ohio Division Workshop this weekend in Dayton.

The next meeting will be October 13, at Pickaway Arms.

Something New Added To PS Arts And Crafts

For those who are beginning to think about their Home Arts and Crafts entries for Pumpkin Show, something new has been added.

The chairman, Mrs. Sterling Poling reports that there will be a class for string art, this year and one for tole. Additional classes have been added for ceramics and macrame.

So that the many local instructors for ceramics may participate without competing with their students, there will be a Professional Ceramics class. All ceramics classes this year will be sponsored by Passtime Ceramics. A special merchandise award will be presented by Sally Anderson of Passtime Ceramics to the entry from the four nonprofessional ceramics classes, which in the opinion of the judges, is most outstanding. The new macrame class for this year will be for macrame which includes a ceramic pot.

In response to the interest in the faster sewing techniques, now being used with knit fabrics, the committee is including a class in the Pumpkin Show Fashions, specifically for this type of garment construction. It may be made for and modeled by either an adult or child. Pumpkin Show Fashions awards will be sponsored by J. C. Penney Co. and Buckeye Mart. Following last year's Bicentennial emphasis, this year there will be a return to the traditional baby clothing, doll clothes classes.

Anyone having questions or wishing to secure a complete list of the entry classes may contact the chairman or one of the members of the Home Arts and Crafts Committee who are, Mrs. Richard Plum, Mrs. James Sutton, Mrs. William A. Myers, Mrs. Robert A. Jones, Mrs. Royce Woolever and Mrs. Phillip Everett. The list is mailed, each year, to all of those who competed in the previous Pumpkin Show.

Columbus Boy Dies As In Movie

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Just like he saw the star of "Dirty Harry" do the night before, a 14-year-old Columbus boy faced off against his younger brother Sunday and killed him with the pull of a trigger, police said.

Homicide Detective Lester Maynard said 11-year-old Micros Thompson was using a toy pistol, but his brother, Delphus, got his father's .22-caliber derringer to reenact a scene from the movie shown on national television.

The older boy, playing the role of the star Clint Eastwood who had a .44-caliber magnum, aimed the two-shot derringer, the detective said.

"He called for his brother to 'go for it' (the toy gun)," Maynard said. A single shot struck Micros in the chest near the heart.

"The bullet went through him, hit the wall and ricocheted back onto a table," the detective said. "The kid staggered out of the room and fell into the hallway."

Delphus was charged with negligent homicide in the shooting, which occurred in the bedroom of their northeast Columbus home.

"Delphus said they had watched 'Dirty Harry' on television Saturday night," said Maynard, who interrogated the sobbing, stuttering youth.

"They were playing around like kids do. They sort of squared off against each other like the one-on-one confrontation in the movie when the tension and emotion was high."

A fire department rescue team tried to save Micros, but he was pronounced dead at the scene, Maynard said.

The boys' father, Delphus Thompson Sr., and a 7-year-old brother were in the house but did not witness the shooting, Maynard said.

Delphus was released in the custody of his father after the juvenile charges were filed, the detective said.

EAGLETES WIN FIRST — The Eaglettes marching corp participated in the Reynoldsburg Tomato Festival on September 11. Under the direction of Sue Ann Bialy, the corp which was formed in June of this year won one of the two first place trophies which were awarded. Pictured with the trophy from the left kneeling is Shawn Kuhn, leader, Jodi Hardy and Sammi Wiggins, feature twirler. Standing Staci Kuhn, Trina Hill, Sue Bialy, director, Anjanette Maxson, Trina Collins, and Lisa Harrison. Persons interested in further information on the corp should call Mrs. Bialy at 983-4053.

Local Funds Distributed By State

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson reported today the September distribution of $6,580,202.38 in Local Government Fund money to Ohio's 88 counties and 388 cities and villages levying local income taxes. Pickaway County received $12,712.97 and Circleville received $13,023.61.

Under the Local Government Fund formula the counties received 11-12ths of the amount, or $6,031,857.86 while the municipalities having their own income taxes shared the remaining $548,344.52.

There are 388 municipalities levying local income taxes. However, the Auditor's office is withholding monthly payments to two villages in favor of a lump sum payment to each at the end of the year. Withheld this month was $2.85 due the Village of Timberlake, Lake County, and $3.34 due the Village of Canal Winchester, Franklin County.

The Local Government Fund distribution is made monthly from 3.5 per cent of the previous month's collections of the state income, sales and corporation taxes. The use of the percentage factor causes the amount available for distribution to local governmental units to fluctuate monthly, Ferguson said.

In August, the month on which the September distribution was based, the state collected $118,377,101.59 from the sales tax, $66,447,108.50 from the income tax and $3,181,749.06 from the corporation franchise tax.

One Dies In Indiana Plane Crash

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — One person died and three others were injured Sunday when a single-engine Piper Tripacer airplane crashed shortly after take off from Smith Field.

Mary Quinn, 47, Fort Wayne, died in the fiery crash. Her 45-year-old husband, William, and her daughter, Collette Schmidt, 20, both of Fort Wayne, were hospitalized in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital here. Mike Smith, a 20-year-old Ohio State student from Fort Wayne, was hospitalized in serious condition.

Authorities said the airplane stalled when the pilot turned sharply. The pilot attempted to land in a soybean field, but the airplane's nose hit a rut, the plane's tail then hit a tree and the gasoline tank ruptured after the plane skidded across the field. They said the accident was still under investigation.

Something New
Added To PS
Arts And Crafts

For those who are beginning to think about their Home Arts and Crafts entries for Pumpkin Show, something new has been added.

The chairman, Mrs. Sterling Poling reports that there will be a class for string art, this year and one for tole. Additional classes have been added for ceramics and macrame.

So that the many local instructors for ceramics may participate without competing with their students, there will be a Professional Ceramics class. All ceramics classes this year will be sponsored by Passtime Ceramics. A special merchandise award will be presented by Sally Anderson of Passtime Ceramics to the entry from the four nonprofessional ceramics classes, which in the opinion of the judges, is most outstanding. The new macrame class for this year will be for macrame which includes a ceramic pot.

In response to the interest in the faster sewing techniques, now being used with knit fabrics, the committee is including a class in the Pumpkin Show Fashions, specifically for this type of garment construction. It may be made for and modeled by either an adult or child. Pumpkin Show Fashions awards will be sponsored by J. C. Penney Co. and Buckeye Mart. Following last year's Bicentennial emphasis, this year there will be a return to the traditional baby clothing, doll clothes classes.

Anyone having questions or wishing to secure a complete list of the entry classes may contact the chairman or one of the members of the Home Arts and Crafts Committee who are, Mrs. Richard Plum, Mrs. James Sutton, Mrs. William A. Myers, Mrs. Robert A. Jones, Mrs. Royce Woolever and Mrs. Phillip Everett. The list is mailed, each year, to all of those who competed in the previous Pumpkin Show.

Columbus
Boy Dies
As In Movie

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Just like he saw the star of "Dirty Harry" do the night before, a 14-year-old Columbus boy faced off against his younger brother Sunday and killed him with the pull of a trigger, police said.

Homicide Detective Lester Maynard said 11-year-old Micros Thompson was using a toy pistol, but his brother, Delphus, got his father's .22-caliber derringer to reenact a scene from the movie shown on national television.

The older boy, playing the role of the star Clint Eastwood who had a .44-caliber magnum, aimed the two-shot derringer, the detective said.

"He called for his brother to 'go for it' (the toy gun)," Maynard said. A single shot struck Micros in the chest near the heart.

"The bullet went through him, hit the wall and ricocheted back onto a table," the detective said. "The kid staggered out of the room and fell into the hallway."

Delphus was charged with negligent homicide in the shooting, which occurred in the bedroom of their northeast Columbus home.

"Delphus said they had watched 'Dirty Harry' on television Saturday night," said Maynard, who interrogated the sobbing, stuttering youth.

"They were playing around like kids do. They sort of squared off against each other like the one-on-one confrontation in the movie when the tension and emotion was high."

A fire department rescue team tried to save Micros, but he was pronounced dead at the scene, Maynard said.

The boys' father, Delphus Thompson Sr., and a 7-year-old brother were in the house but did not witness the shooting, Maynard said.

Delphus was released in the custody of his father after the juvenile charges were filed, the detective said.

EAGLETES WIN FIRST — The Eaglettes marching corp participated in the Reynoldsburg Tomato Festival on September 11. Under the direction of Sue Ann Bialy, the corp which was formed in June of this year won one of the two first place trophies which were awarded. Pictured with the trophy from the left kneeling is Shawn Kuhn, leader, Jodi Hardy and Sammi Wiggins, feature twirler. Standing Staci Kuhn, Trina Hill, Sue Bialy, director, Anjanette Maxson, Trina Collins, and Lisa Harrison. Persons interested in further information on the corp should call Mrs. Bialy at 983-4053.

Local Funds
Distributed
By State

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson reported today the September distribution of $6,580,202.38 in Local Government Fund money to Ohio's 88 counties and 388 cities and villages levying local income taxes. Pickaway County received $12,712.97 and Circleville received $13,023.61.

Under the Local Government Fund formula the counties received 11-12ths of the amount, or $6,031,857.86 while the municipalities having their own income taxes shared the remaining $548,344.52.

There are 388 municipalities levying local income taxes. However, the Auditor's office is withholding monthly payments to two villages in favor of a lump sum payment to each at the end of the year. Withheld this month was $2.85 due the Village of Timberlake, Lake County, and $3.34 due the Village of Canal Winchester, Franklin County.

The Local Government Fund distribution is made monthly from 3.5 per cent of the previous month's collections of the state income, sales and corporation taxes. The use of the percentage factor causes the amount available for distribution to local governmental units to fluctuate monthly, Ferguson said.

In August, the month on which the September distribution was based, the state collected $118,377,101.59 from the sales tax, $66,447, 108.50 from the income tax and $3,181,749.06 from the corporation franchise tax.

Plane Crash

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — One person died and three others were injured Sunday when a single-engine Piper Tri-pacer airplane crashed shortly after take off from Smith Field.

Mary Quinn, 47, Fort Wayne, died in the fiery crash. Her 45-year-old husband, William, and her daughter, Collette Schmidt, 20, both of Fort Wayne, were hospitalized in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital here. Mike Smith, a 20-year-old Ohio State student from Fort Wayne, was hospitalized in serious condition.

Authorities said the airplane stalled when the pilot turned sharply. The pilot attempted to land in a soybean field, but the airplane's nose hit a rut, the plane's tail then hit a tree and the gasoline tank ruptured after the plane skidded across the field. They said the accident was still under investigation.

Buckeye Furnace Reopens During Apple Festival

JACKSON, Ohio (AP) — Buckeye Furnace, the reconstruction of a charcoal fired iron blast furnace of the 19th century, will be open to the public Sept. 24 to Oct. 31 from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The furnace, which was used from 1851 to 1894, was recently restored by the Ohio Historical Society and will be dedicated Sept. 24 in conjunction with the Jackson Apple Festival.

Restoration involved rebuilding the engine and charging houses and charcoal and casting sheds. The only remnant of the original complex was a 40-foot stone chimney. A gift store and information center are housed in the reconstructed company store.

New Miss America From Ohio

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—The new Miss America, Susan Yvonne Perkins, promises frankness upon reflection, sincerity spiced with humor and tears when she sings the blues.

"When I have something to say, I'll speak out," pledged the perky, 23-year-old pride of her hometown, Columbus, Ohio.

She describes herself as "an ambitious person, sincere and unpretentious."

But when pressed to elaborate, she mixes the savvy of a politician with charm that disarms the questioners.

"That's enough," she says with a smile that rescues the rebuffed as she sidesteps the question.

She said her new crown does not make her a sudden expert on world affairs, but she said she will speak out on any topic with which she is familiar.

A former full-time aide to the Ohio legislature, Miss Perkins said she is a registered Republican who could be classified as a conservative.

Kent Protestors Stage Demonstration

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University officials were to consult with the county prosecutor today concerning possible charges against protesters who tore down a construction fence Sunday near the site of the 1970 student slayings.

About 300 persons rallied to urge incoming Kent State students to take up the fight against construction of a $6 million gym annex, and a protest leader said the fence was torn down in a "spontaneous" action.

Protesters occupied the construction site briefly, then left. No arrests were made, and the fence was later repaired.

But witnesses said campus police videotaped the intruders, many wearing bandannas over their faces to avoid recognition.

The rally was organized by the May 4th Coalition, which opposes construction of the gym near where National Guardsmen killed four students and wounded nine others during an antiwar rally seven years ago.

"The fence had to go down," said Roseann "Chic" Canfora, a member of the coalition. "We are not going to let that land be desecrated."

Speakers urged protesters to gather support among the 18,000 students returning for the start of classes today. But few students who arrived Sunday to check into dormitories stopped for

"That's enough," she says with a smile that rescues the rebuffed as she sidesteps the question.

She said her new crown does not make her a sudden expert on world affairs, but she said she will speak out on any topic with which she is familiar.

A former full-time aide to the Ohio legislature, Miss Perkins said she is a registered Republican who could be classified as a conservative.

After being crowned Saturday night by her Miss America predecessor, Dorothy Benham of Minnesota, the 1976 graduate of Miami University of Ohio was asked why she hadn't broken down in tears.

"I'm a pretty calm person and I guess I just don't cry that easily," she said.

Tears came to her eyes, however, when she sang the blues song, "Good Morning, Heartache," during both a preliminary talent competition she won and for the nationally televised pageant finale.

"I had to try real hard, but it worked both times," Miss Perkins said. "It helps the listener become emotionally involved."

After just two hours of sleep, Miss Perkins showed up smiling for the traditional Sunday morning news conference before embarking on a whirlwind tour of several major cities.

She doesn't have a boy friend at the moment, she said, but she'll be ready for marriage if the "right man" comes along. It doesn't pay to spend all your time looking for a mate.

"I think that's where a lot of people go wrong," Miss Perkins said.

After her year as Miss America, she said she may become a lawyer and enter local politics with an eye on an eventual seat in Congress.

Or, if a preferred dream materializes, she will become a professional singer, Miss Perkins said.

"I'm not going to stop living just because I don't have a title anymore," she said.

How did she win out over the 49 other contestants?

"She had the best vocabulary of any girl there," said sports writer and pageant judge Frank DeFord. "She knew what she was doing with her life."

Another judge, Robert Rushton, president of the United States Jaycees, said Miss Perkins didn't give rehearsed answers.

"Some girls gave us the same answers whether we were talking about college life or abortions," he said.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

Two years ago the Ohio legislature established a Land Use Review Committee. This committee was instructed to "review present land use laws, programs and systems of land use control at the state, regional, county and local levels." After the review was completed, recommendations concerning needed changes in these areas were to be presented to the General Assembly. The final Report of the Land Use Review Committee is now available for public examination.

The report documents some of the more important changes that have taken place in land use patterns in Ohio since the turn of the century. In 1900, the report notes, approximately 94 per cent of Ohio's land area was used for agricultural purposes. By 1970, that figure had been reduced to only 65 per cent. This change meant a loss to Ohio of 2,000,000 acres of farm land. And this trend is still continuing today.

The increasing pressure of suburban expansion into formerly rural areas can be clearly seen in the fact that more Ohioans live in the suburbs than in our state's central cities. In land-use terms, urban land — which totaled about 400,000 acres in 1900 — had, by 1970, increased to more than 3,000,000 acres.

In addition to urban expansion, Ohio's land is facing pressures from several other areas. Inter-state highways, expanded suburban shopping plazas, the growth of "second-home" and "retirement home" developments and a growing need for more recreation and park space for our citizens are all competing for increasingly scarce land. Because the quality of life of large numbers of people can be changed by a single and use decision, it is becoming more and more important to understand the consequences to such proposed changes before they occur.

The greatest portion of the 65-page committee report is devoted to the attempt to develop a better framework for the making of land use decisions in Ohio. In this area, the Committee, in their own words, "believes that local governments should continue to play the primary role in developing and implementing land use policies." The Committee does suggest that the state can help support the actions of local government in this area by (1) providing the statutory and financial support, and other tools to enable local governments to carry out their land use functions; (2) coordinating state agencies decisions to avoid local conflicts and (3) resolving any inter-governmental difficulties which might arise. The report calls for implementation of a planning mechanism which the report claims up to now, has not been particularly effective in Ohio.

Under recommendations of the Land Use Review Committee, the role of Ohio's municipalities and townships in the land use planning process would be greatly expanded. Included in the recommendations are requirements that municipal and township planning commissions submit comprehensive development plans to their respective legislative bodies for their approval. When these plans are approved by the local elected officials, future land use and building activities in these areas should conform to the accepted plans.

The report also calls for improving the adequacy of current and future land use regulation in Ohio and the reduction of financial disparities between local taxing districts.

In addition to these general recommendations, the report asks that several special land use goals be established. Among the more important of these special goals are: (1) the preservation of Ohio's agricultural land; (2) the regulation of large-scale developments such as shopping centers, airports, etc., and (3) the protection of critical resource areas in the state, such as flood plains, wetlands, scenic rivers, mineral resource areas, etc.

As has been noted, land use decisions have a significant impact on many people often including those who live many miles from the actual land involved. Because decisions taken on this subject can have such serious consequences for all Ohio residents, it is important that the proposed changes be given careful consideration by the state legislature and all the citizens of Ohio.

Liquor Permit Filing Deadline Is Friday

The deadline for timely-filed renewals is midnight September 16, Director Clifford E. Reich of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control reminded permit holders.

Renewal applications received after the September 16 deadline are late-filed and must be accompanied by a 10 per cent penalty fee in order to be processed. Permit holders who file after this date must cease operation at midnight, October 1, unless their renewed permit has been received and is displayed on the premises. Those who file by September 16 and are not under suspension may operate after the October 1 expiration date if they have a timely-filed receipt.

"Applications improperly completed are returned to the applicant for completion," said Director Reich. "The department cannot consider the application received until it is correctly completed and submitted with the proper fee."

Late renewal applications may be submitted or postmarked only until midnight November 1, 1977. Renewal applications not filed by that date cannot be renewed and the permit is automatically terminated.

League Of Women Voters Support Issues 3, 4

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The League of Women Voters will work to defeat Issue 1, a November ballot proposal which would overturn the state's new election day registration law.

The league at a Friday news conference also said it would support Issue 3 permitting the state to make low-cost loans for middle and low income housing and Issue 4 lifting the $750,000 limit on accumulation of state debt for construction projects.

"We expect to put our full league muscle behind this," said Regina O'Leary, head of the anti-Issue 1 campaign.

Louise Miller, president of the Ohio league, said the housing amendment would permit the issuance of bond with lower interest rates than commercial loans.

Mrs. Miller called the flexible debt limit proposal, Issue 4, "a responsible alternative to a steady stream of ballot bond issues" requiring statewide votes before projects are undertaken.

The league was instrumental in the successful 1975 campaign to defeat Gov. James A. Rhodes' multibillion bond issue package.

Issue 1, a constitutional amendment to require voters to register 30 days before an election and to vote at least once every four years or be dropped from the rolls, is apparently the league priority.

League members want to save a law that ironically will get its first test Nov. 8, when voters will be able to sign up and vote on election day. Registration is permanent under the law, regardless of how often an individual votes.

"Protecting the right of every citizen to vote is a long time concern of the league," said Mrs. Miller. "Fraud has not occurred in the states with election day registration, such as Minnesota and Wisconsin. Increased voter participation has occurred."

No position was taken on Issue 2, banning leghold animal traps. A 19-member executive board decided the league positions on the other issues.

Dr. Gill Morgan Wins B.C. Open

ENICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Gil Morgan made his time on the fairway pay off as he claimed his first professional golf title in winning the $200,000 B.C. Open.

The 30-year-old optometrist from Wewoka, Okla., was never seriously challenged after the second round of play as he ran up a 14-under par 270 for the 72-hole tournament. The nearest challenger, Lee Elder, finished five strokes behind the Oklahoma golfer.

"It has been a long time, a lot of hard work," Morgan said Sunday after winning his first tournament in his four years on the Professional Golfer's Association tour.

The $40,000 pay check Morgan received pushed his earnings over the $100,000 mark for the first time in his golf career.

"It's kind of like a dream come true. I think I've reached my first plateau. Now I have to sit down and re-evaluate my goals," Morgan said.

Morgan's methodical control of the 3,902-yard En-Joie Golf Club course allowed him to run away from the competition during the last three rounds of play.

Morgan never trailed after overtaking first-round leaders Arnold Palmer and Elder, putting more distance between him and the rest of the field with each round.

The optometrist finished his final 18 holes with a two-under par 69 that included three birdies and one bogie.

The early play of Arnold Palmer caused some excitement in the galleries as the old master of the game played the first two rounds in a style reminiscent of the 1950s and 1960s, when he dominated the tour. Palmer went into Saturday's third round trailing Morgan by two strokes, but then his game fell apart and he finished the tournament tied for 10th, 13 strokes back with a paycheck of $1,780.

USC, Southern Cal Ohio State Victors

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Southern Cal and Michigan kept insisting that last season's confrontation in the Rose Bowl game should have been for college football's national championship. Off the early 1977 returns, they're probably entitled to an "I told you so."

While many of the leaders in The Associated Press preseason poll had their problems, second-ranked Michigan and No. 4 Southern Cal were impressive weekend winners—the Wolverines trouncing Illinois 37-9 and the Trojans avenging last year's only setback by trimming Missouri 27-10.

It is far too early in the season for any team to stake a solid claim to the No. 1 ranking. For example, top-rated Oklahoma barely edged unheralded Vanderbilt 25-23, No. 3 Notre Dame needed an injury to Pitt quarterback Matt Cavanaugh and six second-half turnovers to overtake the seventh-ranked—and defending national champion—Panthers 19-9, No. 5 Ohio State outlasted Miami of Florida 10-0, eighth-ranked Texas Tech held off Baylor 17-7 and No. 10 Maryland rallied to defeat Clemson 21-14.

Sixth-ranked Alabama, however, whipped Mississippi 34-13 and dried some of Bear Bryant's tears while No. 9 Texas A&M trimmed Kansas 28-14.

Michigan came down hard on an old friend, Illinois Coach Gary Moeller, who was Bo Schembechler's top aide last year. Rick Leach threw two touchdown passes, Harlan Huckleby scored twice and the Wolverines rushed for 350 yards but Schembechler insisted it was "hard to get up for the game because everyone likes him (Moeller) so much. It was a first game and we didn't play as well as we are capable."

Moeller knew he had his work cut out for him.

"Their offense is probably better than any Michigan team I ever was associated with," he said.

Meanwhile, Rob Hertel threw two touchdown passes and scored once while super soph Charles White rushed for 155 yards and a touchdown to lead Southern Cal past Missouri.

Hertel completed 12 of 20 passes for 203 yards, leading Missouri Coach Al Onofrio to say, "I've never seen a passer like Rob Hertel was today."

Said USC's John Robinson: "We feel we can wear an opponent down as the game goes on. We have the size and strength to run at people, even if we do make a few errors."

While Vandy Coach Fred Pancoast beefed about the officiating—"too damn many," Barry Switzer called it "the worst exhibition of Oklahoma football I've ever seen."

Even minus Tony Dorsett, Pitt had high hopes of defending its 1976 national crown...until Cavanaugh was kayoed by Notre Dame's Willie Fry just as he tossed a 12-yard touchdown pass to Gordon Jones late in the opening period. Cavanaugh underwent surgery Sunday for a broken arm and will be sidelined for at least a month.

"Things were starting to fall into place—and then everything is out the window," said Jackie Sherrill, Pitt's new coach.

Ohio State lost Jeff Logan, last year's top ground-gainer, with a first-half ankle injury but Ron Springs rushed for 113 yards and the game's lone touchdown on a 21-yard burst in the second quarter.

"The margin of victory was disappointing," said Woody Hayes, one of the few coaches around who won't settle for 11 one-point triumphs.

Jeff Rutledge completed seven of eight passes for 215 and scored a touchdown to lead Alabama past Ole Miss. Rodney Allison scored on a 54-yard gallop and threw a four-yard touchdown pass to help Texas Tech turn back Baylor. Texas A&M got 150 yards and three touchdowns from burly fullback George Woodard in defeating Kansas. And Larry Dick came off the Maryland bench to throw two touchdown passes and rally the Terrapins over Clemson.

The Second Ten produced the weekend's major upset—Washington State's 19-10 shocker over 15th-ranked Nebraska. Jack Thompson, the "Throvin' Samoan," hurled two scoring passes to make the head coaching debut of ex-Nebraska aide Warren Powers a smashing success.

"I think it's a big shot in the arm for our program," Powers said.

Royals Top Twins

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

While the Kansas City Royals are running away with one American League divisional race, the New York Yankees have allowed the other one to tighten up.

The Royals won their 12th straight game Sunday, beating the Minnesota Twins 4-1. The Royals have an 8½-game lead over Chicago and appear headed for their second straight West Division title.

The Yankees, meanwhile, split a doubleheader with the expansionist Toronto Blue Jays, winning the first game 4-3 and losing the nightcap 6-4. Their lead over second-place Boston shrunk to 1½ games as the two teams get ready for a crucial three-game series in New York that begins Tuesday.

The Yankees didn't play particularly good ball against the Blue Jays, whose 48-93 record is the worst in the major leagues. After being humiliated 19-3 by the Blue Jays Saturday, New York could manage only a split of the two games Sunday. Toronto has split 12 games with the Yankees this season.

Tom Murphy, who had not started since 1973, hurled six innings of six-hit ball and surrendered just one run to the Yankees in the nightcap.

In other AL action, Boston stopped Detroit 6-2, Baltimore defeated Cleveland 9-5, Seattle nipped Texas 6-4, Oakland beat Milwaukee 5-3 and Chicago split a doubleheader with the Angels, taking the opener 6-2 and dropping the nightcap 5-4.

Red Sox 6, Tigers 2

Boston won its fifth straight game and 10th in its last 11, concluding a four-game sweep of Detroit. Jim Rice, the American League's home run leader, belted the first grand slam of his career in the seventh inning, his 37th homer of the season.

"Some people wrote us off a week ago, but here we are, just one game back in the loss column," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer. "Now we just have to go in there (to New York) and win some ballgames."

Orioles 9, Indians 5

The Orioles completed a three-game sweep of Cleveland, leaving the Indians winless in eight games in Baltimore this year. The Orioles' Ken Singleton, batting .404 since Aug. 3, drove in three runs with a double and single and teammate Doug DeCinces drove in three runs and hit his 17th homer of the season in support of Ross Grimsley's pitching.

Baltimore moved within three games of the Yankees with their 13th victory in 17 games. During that streak, however, they have picked up just one game on New York.

Mariners 6, Rangers 4

Jimmy Sexton had four hits and Dan Meyer hit his 20th homer as the Mariners topped Texas. Jim Sundberg and Mike Hargrove had solo homers for the Rangers.

"I've had scouts tell me I could play up here," said Sexton, who was recalled from the minor leagues last week. "I don't want to go back to the minors."

A's 5, Brewers 3

Tony Armas drove in three Oakland runs with a double and a homer and Vida Blue won his 14th game in 31 decisions, striking out seven and surrendering seven hits until being relieved by Doug Bair in the ninth.

White Sox 6-4, Angels 2-5

Chris Knapp hurled a three-hitter and struck out 13 in the opener. Knapp, recalled from Iowa of the American Association last week, had a no-hitter until Rance Mulliniks singled with two out in the seventh.

Jorge Orta had four hits and drove in four runs in the opener.

Mario Guerrero doubled home Bobby Bonds with the winning run in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

Hillsboro Nine Wins Tourney

The Hillsboro Merchants came out of the losers' bracket Sunday to win the championship in the seventh annual Knights of Columbus Invitational Tournament at Ted Lewis Park.

The Merchants defeated Circleville Oil 10-7 and 8-4 in the finals. The Oilmen gained the playoff spot by defeating Shawnee Trophies in the winners' bracket finals. Shawnee finished in third place and Lancaster Glass Bar came in fourth place.

Hillsboro won the 1st place trophy, sponsored by P.P.G. Industries, and Circleville Oil's 2nd place trophy was sponsored by R.C.A. Scioto Coca-Cola Bottling Company sponsored the 3rd place trophy won by Shawnee Trophies, and 4th place went to Lancaster Glass Bar. Their trophy was sponsored by Circle Plastics.

A trophy for the most home runs was awarded to B. Nettler of the Ponderosa team from Chillicothe. That trophy was donated by Lowes of Circleville. Father Hannan Council Knights of Columbus presented a trophy for most hits to Tom Browning of the winning Hillsboro Merchants team. Browning smashed 17 hits during the tournament.

Atlanta Braves Recall Six From Richmond

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Braves recalled six players, including catcher Dale Murphy, from their Richmond farm team in the International League.

A club spokesman said the National League club Saturday recalled Murphy, infielder Rob Belloir and pitcher Joey McLaughlin. In addition, Atlanta bought the contracts of pitchers Larry Bradford and Mickey Mahler and outfielder Larry Whisenton.

Pitcher Frank LaCorte also was recalled but the right-hander will not report to the club due to an arm injury.

Darbyville Pigeon Wins Race

The Circleville Racing Pigeon Club held its first race of the Young Bird Series on Sept. 4. Ninety-six birds from six racing lots were released at Marysville, Ky. at 7:30 p.m.

This 100-mile race was won by John Leach of Darbyville, whose winning bird averaged 1,120.10 yards per minute, arriving home at 9:36 p.m.

Second and third places went to Selmon Loft of New Holland, with Leach taking fourth.

The results were: Leach, 1,120.10 yards per minute (ypm); Loft, 1,117.36 ypm and 1,115.73 ypm; Leach, 1,100.14 ypm; Larry Bolenthouse of Williamsport, 948.66 ypm; Mike Reeser of Circleville, 922.08 ypm; Verrill Russell of Circleville, 900.24 ypm.

Tiger Linksters Take Third

The Circleville Tiger Golf Team captured third place at a Class AA seven team invitational tournament Saturday at Walnut Hills Country Club in Columbus.

Dublin took first place honors with a 318 team score. Dublin's Matt Price was medalist with a 75.

Tiger's scores were Mike McKelvey, 41-42-83; Tracy Wagner, 42-42-84; Scott Sanders, 47-43-90; Fred Palm, 48-48-96; and Rich Pfeleger, 51-45-96.

This afternoon the Tigers host Madison Plains and Wehrle High Schools in a triangular match at Pickaway Country Club.

The Circleville Herald, Monday September 12, 1977 11

Dr. Gill Morgan Wins B.C. Open

ENICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Gil Morgan made his time on the fairway pay off as he claimed his first professional golf title in winning the $200,000 B.C. Open.

The 30-year-old optometrist from Wewoka, Okla., was never seriously challenged after the second round of play as he ran up a 14-under par 270 for the 72-hole tournament. The nearest challenger, Lee Elder, finished five strokes behind the Oklahoma golfer.

"It has been a long time, a lot of hard work," Morgan said Sunday after winning his first tournament in his four years on the Professional Golfer's Association tour.

The $40,000 pay check Morgan received pushed his earnings over the $100,000 mark for the first time in his golf career.

"It's kind of like a dream come true. I think I've reached my first plateau. Now I have to sit down and re-evaluate my goals," Morgan said.

Morgan's methodical control of the 3,902-yard En-Joie Golf Club course allowed him to run away from the competition during the last three rounds of play.

Morgan never trailed after overtaking first-round leaders Arnold Palmer and Elder, putting more distance between him and the rest of the field with each round.

The optometrist finished his final 18 holes with a two-under par 69 that included three birdies and one bogie.

The early play of Arnold Palmer caused some excitement in the galleries as the old master of the game played the first two rounds in a style reminiscent of the 1950s and 1960s, when he dominated the tour. Palmer went into Saturday's third round trailing Morgan by two strokes, but then his game fell apart and he finished the tournament tied for 10th, 13 strokes back with a paycheck of $1,780.

USC, Southern Cal Ohio State Victors

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Southern Cal and Michigan kept insisting that last season's confrontation in the Rose Bowl game should have been for college football's national championship. Off the early 1977 returns, they're probably entitled to an "I told you so."

While many of the leaders in The Associated Press preseason poll had their problems, second-ranked Michigan and No. 4 Southern Cal were impressive weekend winners—the Wolverines trouncing Illinois 37-9 and the Trojans avenging last year's only setback by trimming Missouri 27-10.

It is far too early in the season for any team to stake a solid claim to the No. 1 ranking. For example, top-rated Oklahoma barely edged unheralded Vanderbilt 25-23, No. 3 Notre Dame needed an injury to Pitt quarterback Matt Cavanaugh and six second-half turnovers to overtake the seventh-ranked—defending national champion—Panthers 19-9, No. 5 Ohio State outlasted Miami of Florida 10-0, eighth-ranked Texas Tech held off Baylor 17-7 and No. 10 Maryland rallied to defeat Clemson 21-14.

Sixth-ranked Alabama, however, whipped Mississippi 34-13 and dried some of Bear Bryant's tears while No. 9 Texas A&M trimmed Kansas 28-14.

Michigan came down hard on an old friend, Illinois Coach Gary Moeller, who was Bo Schembechler's top aide last year. Rick Leach threw two touchdown passes, Harlan Huckleby scored twice and the Wolverines rushed for 350 yards but Schembechler insisted it was "hard to get up for the game because everyone likes him (Moeller) so much. It was a first game and we didn't play as well as we are capable."

Moeller knew he had his work cut out for him.

"Their offense is probably better than any Michigan team I ever was associated with," he said.

Meanwhile, Rob Hertel threw two touchdown passes and scored once while super soph Charles White rushed for 155 yards and a touchdown to lead Southern Cal past Missouri.

Hertel completed 12 of 20 passes for 203 yards, leading Missouri Coach Al Onofrio to say, "I've never seen a passer like Rob Hertel was today."

Said USC's John Robinson: "We feel we can wear an opponent down as the game goes on. We have the size and strength to run at people, even if we do make a few errors."

While Vandy Coach Fred Pancoast beefed about the officiating—"Too damn many," Barry Switzer called it "the worst exhibition of Oklahoma football I've ever seen."

Even minus Tony Dorsett, Pitt had high hopes of defending its 1976 national crown...until Cavanaugh was kayoed by Notre Dame's Willie Fry just as he tossed a 12-yard touchdown pass to Gordon Jones late in the opening period. Cavanaugh underwent surgery Sunday for a broken arm and will be sidelined for at least a month.

"Things were starting to fall into place—and then everything is out the window," said Jackie Sherrill, Pitt's new coach.

Ohio State lost Jeff Logan, last year's top ground-gainer, with a first-half ankle injury but Ron Springs rushed for 113 yards and the game's lone touchdown on a 21-yard burst in the second quarter.

"The margin of victory was disappointing," said Woody Hayes, one of the few coaches around who won't settle for 11 one-point triumphs.

Jeff Rutledge completed seven of eight passes for 215 and scored a touchdown to lead Alabama past Ole Miss. Rodney Allison scored on a 54-yard gallop and threw a four-yard touchdown pass to help Texas Tech turn back Baylor. Texas A&M got 150 yards and three touchdowns from burly fullback George Woodard in defeating Kansas. And Larry Dick came off the Maryland bench to throw two touchdown passes and rally the Terrapins over Clemson.

The Second Ten produced the weekend's major upset—Washington State's 19-10 shocker over 15th-ranked Nebraska. Jack Thompson, the "Throwin' Samoan," hurled two scoring passes to make the head coaching debut of ex-Nebraska aide Warren Powers a smashing success.

"I think it's a big shot in the arm for our program," Powers said.

Royals Top Twins

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

While the Kansas City Royals are running away with one American League divisional race, the New York Yankees have allowed the other one to tighten up.

The Royals won their 12th straight game Sunday, beating the Minnesota Twins 4-1. The Royals have an 8½-game lead over Chicago and appear headed for their second straight West Division title.

The Yankees, meanwhile, split a doubleheader with the expansionist Toronto Blue Jays, winning the first game 4-3 and losing the nightcap 6-4. Their lead over second-place Boston shrunk to 1½ games as the two teams get ready for a crucial three-game series in New York that begins Tuesday.

The Yankees didn't play particularly good ball against the Blue Jays, whose 48-93 record is the worst in the major leagues. After being humiliated 19-3 by the Blue Jays Saturday, New York could manage only a split of the two games Sunday. Toronto has split 12 games with the Yankees this season.

Tom Murphy, who had not started since 1973, hurled six innings of six-hit ball and surrendered just one run to the Yankees in the nightcap.

In other AL action, Boston stopped Detroit 6-2, Baltimore defeated Cleveland 9-5, Seattle nipped Texas 6-4, Oakland beat Milwaukee 5-3 and Chicago split a doubleheader with the Angels, taking the opener 6-2 and dropping the nightcap 5-4.

Red Sox 6, Tigers 2

Boston won its fifth straight game and 10th in its last 11, concluding a four-game sweep of Detroit. Jim Rice, the American League's home run leader, belted the first grand slam of his career in the seventh inning, his 37th homer of the season.

"Some people wrote us off a week ago, but here we are, just one game back in the loss column," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer. "Now we just have to go in there (to New York) and win some ballgames."

Orioles 9, Indians 5

The Orioles completed a three-game sweep of Cleveland, leaving the Indians winless in eight games in Baltimore this year. The Orioles' Ken Singleton, batting .404 since Aug. 3, drove in three runs with a double and single and teammate Doug DeCinces drove in three runs and hit his 17th homer of the season in support of Ross Grimsley's pitching.

Baltimore moved within three games of the Yankees with their 13th victory in 17 games. During that streak, however, they have picked up just one game on New York.

Mariners 6, Rangers 4

Jimmy Sexton had four hits and Dan Meyer hit his 20th homer as the Mariners topped Texas. Jim Sundberg and Mike Hargrove had solo homers for the Rangers.

"I've had scouts tell me I could play up here," said Sexton, who was recalled from the minor leagues last week. "I don't want to go back to the minors."

A's 5, Brewers 3

Tony Armas drove in three Oakland runs with a double and a homer and Vida Blue won his 14th game in 31 decisions, striking out seven and surrendering seven hits until being relieved by Doug Bair in the ninth.

White Sox 6-4, Angels 2-5

Chris Knapp hurled a three-hitter and struck out 13 in the opener. Knapp, recalled from Iowa of the American Association last week, had a no-hitter until Rance Mulliniks singled with two out in the seventh.

Jorge Orta had four hits and drove in four runs in the opener.

Mario Guerrero doubled home Bobby Bonds with the winning run in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

Hillsboro Nine Wins Tourney

The Hillsboro Merchants came out of the losers' bracket Sunday to win the championship in the seventh annual Knights of Columbus Invitational Tournament at Ted Lewis Park.

The Merchants defeated Circleville Oil 10-7 and 8-4 in the finals. The Oilmen gained the playoff spot by defeating Shawnee Trophies in the winners' bracket finals. Shawnee finished in third place and Lancaster Glass Bar came in fourth place.

Hillsboro won the 1st place trophy, sponsored by P.P.G. Industries, and Circleville Oil's 2nd place trophy was sponsored by R.C.A. Scioto Coca-Cola Bottling Company sponsored the 3rd place trophy won by Shawnee Trophies, and 4th place went to Lancaster Glass Bar. Their trophy was sponsored by Circle Plastics.

A trophy for the most home runs was awarded to B. Nettler of the Ponderosa team from Chillicothe. That trophy was donated by Lowes of Circleville. Father Hannan Council Knights of Columbus presented a trophy for most hits to Tom Browning of the winning Hillsboro Merchants team. Browning smashed 17 hits during the tournament.

Parker Kills NL Pitching

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
The Pittsburgh Pirates' "Hit Man" is putting out a contract on all National League pitchers.

"If the game situation allows it, I think I'll be swinging for home runs the rest of the year," says Dave Parker. His primary goal, of course, is to help the Pirates win the National League East title, but the way the Philadelphia Phillies are playing, that may be an impossible dream.

More within Parker's grasp is a season of 100 runs batted in. He already has reached a cherished level—the 200-hit mark—and is on his way to the league's batting title with a

.345 average.

The broad-shouldered Parker continued to kill National League pitching Sunday with a home run, triple and double while leading the Pirates to a 10-4 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Parker became the first National Leaguer to reach the 200-hit plateau this season with his double in the first inning. Later, his home run made more news because it matched an accomplishment by the late Roberto Clemente.

The homer was Parker's 20th and he became the first Pirates player to collect 20 homers and 200 hits in the same season since Clemente did it in 1967.

With two RBI Sunday, Parker improved his total to 86.

While Parker was having a good day, so was Greg Luzinski of the Phillies. He blasted a three-run homer, leading Philadelphia to a 6-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals that kept the Phillies in front of the Pirates by eight games.

In other NL action Sunday, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-2, the New York Mets trimmed the Chicago Cubs 7-3, the Atlanta Braves whipped the San Diego Padres 7-3, and the San Francisco Giants beat the Houston Astros 2-1.

Phillies 6, Cardinals 5

Tommy Hutton and Bake McBride both singled in the fourth inning before Luzinski ripped a pitch over the left field fence, sending the Phillies ahead 6-5.

Warren Brusstar, 5-2, was the winner with relief help from Gene Garber, who notched his 15th save.

Reds 6, Dodgers 2

Johnny Bench's two-run double triggered a four-run first inning and gave the Cincinnati catcher 100 RBI for the sixth time in his career as the Reds defeated Los Angeles. Bench's double tied him with ex-teammate Tony Perez as the only active major leaguer with six 100 RBI seasons.

Rookie Tom Hume registered his first major league victory after relieving starter Jack Billingham in the third inning. Hume, 1-3, pitched out of a bases-loaded, one-out jam and spaced five hits over the last six innings. The victory kept at eight the Dodgers' "magic number" for clinching the NL West title.

Mets 7, Cubs 3

Bruce Boicclair's two-run double keyed a four-run fifth inning, leading New York over Chicago. Before the Mets rallied, the Cubs had taken a 3-0 lead in the fourth on a double by Bill Buckner, a single by Steve Ontiveros and a two-run homer by Manny Trillo.

John Milner followed Boicclair's big fifth-inning hit with an RBI double and Joel Youngblood capped the rally with a run-scoring single. Youngblood later doubled home two Mets runs in the ninth.

Rick Reuschel, 19-8, was unsuccessful in his third bid for his 20th victory.

Braves 7, Padres 3

Pat Rockett's run-scoring single in the sixth inning broke a 3-3 tie and Atlanta later pulled off a triple steal to highlight a three-run eighth while beating San Diego.

Garry Matthews and Biff Pocoroba were on base with walks against San Diego starter Randy Jones, 6-12, in the sixth when Rockett sent a liner to left, scoring Matthews from second with the eventual winning run.

Rockett's hit chased Jones and made a winner of Eddie Solomon, 5-5.

Giants 2, Astros 1

Rob Andrews' single in the eighth inning drove home the winning run as San Francisco beat Houston. Ed Halicki, 14-10, scattered seven hits over the first 7-2-3 innings before giving way to relief ace Gary Lavelle, who blanked the Astros the rest of the way for his 19th save of the season.

The only run off Halicki was a third-inning homer by Enos Cabell, his 15th of the year.

EMU, Ohio, Kent State Winners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Roy Kramer could care less that his Central Michigan did not score a touchdown against big rival Eastern Michigan.

Even with no TDs, the Chippewas knocked Eastern Michigan from the Mid-American Conference lead with a 9-3 verdict.

"I've always said that I'll take one whether the score is 7-6, 3-2 or whatever," said Kramer. "at the end of the year, it adds up to a victory. That's the important thing."

So Central Michigan is tied for the early Mid-American lead with defending champion Ball State, a 43-3 victor at Toledo, spoiling Chuck Stobart's coaching debut with the Rockets. Both are 1-0 in the conference.

Elsewhere in nonconference activity, Denny Stolz' debut at Bowling Green was a success, the Falcons defeating Grand Valley State 17-6, Ohio University routed Marshall 49-27, Kent State polished off Illinois State 33-14, MAC title favorite Western Michigan fell at Minnesota 10-7 and Northern Illinois was victimized by Louisville 38-0.

Miami was the only MidAmerican team idle Saturday.

Central Michigan, with No. 1 quarterback Ron Rummel out with a sore hand, relied on three field goals of 42, 43 and 24 yards by Rade Savich to drop the Hurons to 1-1 in the league.

"When you play that good," said Eastern Michigan Coach Ed Chlebek, "you generally win. We worked so hard. All we needed was a touchdown."

Ball State dominated Toledo, with sophomore quarterback Dave Wilson hitting for touchdowns on three of his first eight straight completed passes and Archie Currin rushing for 115 yards in 21 carries.

"I kind of missed coaching," said Stolz, fired at Michigan State when the Big Ten school was accused of recruiting irregularities. "Defensively, we played well enough to shut them out with goal line stands."

Mark Miller and Andrew Parker plunged for short Bowling Green touchdowns and freshman John Spengler booted a 26-yard field goal.

Quarterback Andy Vetter was Ohio's star, rushing for three touchdowns and passing for a fourth. Arnold Welcher, the Bobcats' tailback, ran for 152 yards to set a school career rushing mark.

"PUT SOME CLASS INTO YOUR NIGHT LIFE"

Nice Guy Finishes First

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The nice kid did it.

The nasty kid got a shellacking, picked up his armful of racquets and lamed, not even waiting for his $16,500 check.

"You can take this crowd and stuff it. I am going to Monte Carlo to live," said beaten Jimmy Connors, the Bad Boy from Belleville, Ill., rushing to a waiting limousine outside the West Side Tennis Club.

Connors was gone—without a "Thank you" or a courteous bow to his opponent, the officials and the crowd—less than 10 minutes after bowing to Argentina's Guillermo Vilas 2-6, 6-3, 7-6, 6-0 in the men's singles final of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

This was adieu to the old concrete stadium at Forest Hills, scene of the U.S. nationals for 52 of the tournament's 96 years, and the fiery Connors left it the same way he had lived it—with a curse on his lips and a lack of grace.

There was a sadness to the scene, amidst all the jubilation over Vilas' victory, because Connors, despite his bad court manners, had proved himself one of the gutsiest and most formidable players in the game.

The final center court match was 3 hours, 16 minutes of high drama played before a bull ring crowd of more than 12,000 and a national television audience of millions.

From the beginning, the place crackled with the kind of tension that precedes one of Muhammad Ali's heavyweight championship fights.

Connors, the defending champion, was the first to arrive, accompanied by his mother, Gloria; two tennis pros, Pancho Segura and Lorne Kuhle, and Doug Henderson, who serves as a body guard.

Mrs. Connors, who had taken Jimmy from his Belleville home to California to have him moulded into a tennis champion, was pale and nervous.

"Excuse, I can't talk now," she kept saying to those who approached her. "I must look after Jimmy's lunch."

Segura is the copper-skinned Ecuadorian who is credited with fashioning Connors' powerful game. Thearded Kuhle, of Las Vegas, is remembered for his work with Bobby Riggs before the Billie Jean King match.

Vilas appeared with nine racquets under his arm, watched over by Ion Tiriac, an awesome, mustachioed man who serves as both coach and manager.

Mrs. Connors, in a white suit, sat at courtside alongside Segura and Kuhle. Some 15 feet away, Tiriac, glowering, chain-smoking, kept grinding half-smoked cigarettes into the ground.

It was a furious match, one tennis

buffs never will forget. The Argentine and the feisty American champion went at each other like a pair of ring sluggers—Connors his flat forehand and wicked two-fisted backhand shots streaking over the net like bullets, Vilas unleashing fusillades of spinning backhands and looping forehands off a racquet strung tight as a board.

"He was hitting rockets at me," Vilas said of Connors.

The crowd quickly established its preference. The demonstrative fans sheathed their nationalism and began pouring out their lungs for the 25-year-old South American gaucho who composes sensitive poems in his spare time.

Connors, notorious as a court villain given to bickering with umpires, profanity and obscene gestures to the crowd, kept his volatile temperament under a tight leash on this particular occasion.

But the people's memories were too long.

When Connors missed a desperate forehand, losing the decisive set at love, the crowd surged onto the center court, hoisted Vilas to their shoulders as they might some conquering matador and spurned the restraints of the private police.

Tennis had moved into the 20th century. The day of stuffy restraints and fan decorum were gone. This was a foot-stomping, tugging, tearing pro sports crowd.

"I wanted to speak to Jimmy," Vilas apologized afterward. "But somebody grabbed my headband. I did not want them to grab my head, too."

Muangsurin To Fight Saoul Mamby

BANGKOK (AP) — World Boxing Council (WBC) superlightweight champion Saensak Muangsurin of Thailand will defend his title against Saoul Mamby of New York in northeastern Thailand next month, Saensak's manager said today.

Tiemboon Intrabutr said the 15-round bout will be held Oct. 22 in Korat, 130 miles northeast of Bangkok.

Mamby is ranked fourth by the WBC.

Saensak last successfully defended his title over Mike Everett of Philadelphia last month in Thailand.

In 1932 the Chicago Bears won the pro football title by defeating the Portsmouth Spartans, 9-0, in a game played indoors at the Chicago Stadium.

Opportunity Knocks Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years they said it couldn't be done. But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Parker Kills NL Pitching

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
The Pittsburgh Pirates' "Hit Man" is putting out a contract on all National League pitchers.

"If the game situation allows it, I think I'll be swinging for home runs the rest of the year," says Dave Parker. His primary goal, of course, is to help the Pirates win the National League East title, but the way the Philadelphia Phillies are playing, that may be an impossible dream.

More within Parker's grasp is a season of 100 runs batted in. He already has reached a cherished level—the 200-hit mark—and is on his way to the league's batting title with a

.345 average.

The broad-shouldered Parker continued to kill National League pitching Sunday with a home run, triple and double while leading the Pirates to a 10-4 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Parker became the first National Leaguer to reach the 200-hit plateau this season with his double in the first inning. Later, his home run made more news because it matched an accomplishment by the late Roberto Clemente.

The homer was Parker's 20th and he became the first Pirates player to collect 20 homers and 200 hits in the same season since Clemente did it in 1967.

With two RBI Sunday, Parker improved his total to 86.

While Parker was having a good day, so was Greg Luzinski of the Phillies. He blasted a three-run homer, leading Philadelphia to a 6-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals that kept the Phillies in front of the Pirates by eight games.

In other NL action Sunday, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-2, the New York Mets trimmed the Chicago Cubs 7-3, the Atlanta Braves whipped the San Diego Padres 7-3, and the San Francisco Giants beat the Houston Astros 2-1.

Phillies 6, Cardinals 5

Tommy Hutton and Bake McBride both singled in the fourth inning before Luzinski ripped a pitch over the left field fence, sending the Phillies ahead 6-5.

Warren Brusstar, 5-2, was the winner with relief help from Gene Garber, who notched his 15th save.

Reds 6, Dodgers 2

Johnny Bench's two-run double triggered a four-run first inning and gave the Cincinnati catcher 100 RBI for the sixth time in his career as the Reds defeated Los Angeles. Bench's double tied him with ex-teammate Tony Perez as the only active major leaguer with six 100 RBI seasons.

Rookie Tom Hume registered his first major league victory after relieving starter Jack Billingham in the third inning. Hume, 1-3, pitched out of a bases-loaded, one-out jam and spaced five hits over the last six innings. The victory kept at eight the Dodgers' "magic number" for clinching the NL West title.

Mets 7, Cubs 3

Bruce Boicclair's two-run double keyed a four-run fifth inning, leading New York over Chicago. Before the Mets rallied, the Cubs had taken a 3-0 lead in the fourth on a double by Bill Buckner, a single by Steve Ontiveros and a two-run homer by Manny Trillo.

John Milner followed Boicclair's big fifth-inning hit with an RBI double and Joel Youngblood capped the rally with a run-scoring single. Youngblood later doubled home two Mets runs in the ninth.

Rick Reuschel, 19-8, was unsuccessful in his third bid for his 20th victory.

Braves 7, Padres 3

Pat Rockett's run-scoring single in the sixth inning broke a 3-3 tie and Atlanta later pulled off a triple steal to highlight a three-run eighth while beating San Diego.

Garry Matthews and Biff Pocoroba were on base with walks against San Diego starter Randy Jones, 6-12, in the sixth when Rockett sent a liner to left, scoring Matthews from second with the eventual winning run.

Rockett's hit chased Jones and made a winner of Eddie Solomon, 5-5.

Giants 2, Astros 1

Rob Andrews' single in the eighth inning drove home the winning run as San Francisco beat Houston. Ed Halicki, 14-10, scattered seven hits over the first 7 2/3 innings before giving way to relief ace Gary Lavelle, who blanked the Astros the rest of the way for his 19th save of the season.

The only run off Halicki was a third-inning homer by Enos Cabell, his 15th of the year.

"PUT SOME CLASS INTO YOUR NIGHT LIFE"

Nice Guy Finishes First

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The nice kid did it.

The nasty kid got a shellacking, picked up his armful of racquets and lammed, not even waiting for his $16,500 check.

"You can take this crowd and stuff it. I am going to Monte Carlo to live," said beaten Jimmy Connors, the Bad Boy from Belleville, Ill., rushing to a waiting limousine outside the West Side Tennis Club.

Connors was gone—without a "Thank you" or a courteous bow to his opponent, the officials and the crowd—less than 10 minutes after bowing to Argentina's Guillermo Vilas 2-6, 6-3, 7-6, 6-0 in the men's singles final of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

This was adieu to the old concrete stadium at Forest Hills, scene of the U.S. nationals for 52 of the tournament's 96 years, and the fiery Connors left it the same way he had lived it—with a curse on his lips and a lack of grace.

There was a sadness to the scene, amidst all the jubilation over Vilas' victory, because Connors, despite his bad court manners, had proved himself one of the gutsiest and most formidable players in the game.

The final center court match was 3 hours, 16 minutes of high drama played before a bull ring crowd of more than 12,000 and a national television audience of millions.

From the beginning, the place crackled with the kind of tension that precedes one of Muhammad Ali's heavyweight championship fights.

Connors, the defending champion, was the first to arrive, accompanied by his mother, Gloria; two tennis pros, Pancho Segura and Lorne Kuhle, and Doug Henderson, who serves as a body guard.

Mrs. Connors, who had taken Jimmy from his Belleville home to California to have him moulded into a tennis champion, was pale and nervous.

"Excuse, I can't talk now," she kept saying to those who approached her. "I must look after Jimmy's lunch."

Segura is the copper-skinned Ecuadorian who is credited with fashioning Connors' powerful game. Thearded Kuhle, of Las Vegas, is remembered for his work with Bobby Riggs before the Billie Jean King match.

Vilas appeared with nine racquets under his arm, watched over by Ion Tiriac, an awesome, mustachioed man who serves as both coach and manager.

Mrs. Connors, in a white suit, sat at courtside alongside Segura and Kuhle. Some 15 feet away, Tiriac, glowering, chain-smoking, kept grinding half-smoked cigarettes into the ground.

It was a furious match, one tennis

buffs never will forget. The Argentine and the feisty American champion went at each other like a pair of ring slugs—Connors his flat forehand and wicked two-fisted backhand shots streaking over the net like bullets, Vilas unleashing fusillades of spinning backhands and looping forehands off a racket strung tight as a board.

"He was hitting rockets at me," Vilas said of Connors.

The crowd quickly established its preference. The demonstrative fans sheathed their nationalism and began pouring out their lungs for the 25-year-old South American gaucho who composes sensitive poems in his spare time.

Connors, notorious as a court villain given to bickering with umpires, profanity and obscene gestures to the crowd, kept his volatile temperament under a tight leash on this particular occasion.

But the people's memories were too long.

When Connors missed a desperate forehand, losing the decisive set at love, the crowd surged onto the center court, hoisted Vilas to their shoulders as they might some conquering matador and spurned the restraints of the private police.

Tennis had moved into the 20th century. The day of stuffy restraints and fan decorum were gone. This was a foot-stomping, tugging, tearing pro sports crowd.

"I wanted to speak to Jimmy," Vilas apologized afterward. "But somebody grabbed my headband. I did not want them to grab my head, too."

Muangsurin

To Fight

Saoul Mamby

BANGKOK (AP) — World Boxing Council (WBC) superlightweight champion Saensak Muangsurin of Thailand will defend his title against Saoul Mamby of New York in northeastern Thailand next month, Saensak's manager said today.

Tienboon Intrabutr said the 15-round bout will be held Oct. 22 in Korat, 130 miles northeast of Bangkok.

Mamby is ranked fourth by the WBC.

Saensak last successfully defended his title over Mike Everett of Philadelphia last month in Thailand.

In 1932 the Chicago Bears won the pro football title by defeating the Portsmouth Spartans, 9-0, in a game played indoors at the Chicago Stadium.

Opportunity Knocks Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You now have a chance to capitalize on some of your finest gifts, two being adaptability and a spirit of enterprise. But keep reins in check. Don't be overly aggressive.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Personal matters may be troubling you. Review them calmly, completely. Perhaps you are overemphasizing certain angles. There is no real need for anxiety.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Excellent Mercury influences! Get into the spirit of things and do your utmost to advance your interests. Intellectual pursuits especially favored.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Curb a tendency toward impulsiveness. Make no hasty judgments and don't jump to unwarranted conclusions or you could make serious errors.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You are always ambitious, and this day will open new areas in which to profit by your know-how. Results may not be immediate, however, so be patient.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You may be indecisive now, not knowing which way to turn, but don't wait for "inspiration" to help you. Get going and let past procedures guide you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may run into some unexpected situations. Be resolute in your own interest, but bend if the occasion warrants and principles are not jeopardized.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Don't let your enthusiasm get the better of you. Look into all suggestions carefully. Do not accept merely because they "sound good."

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Jupiter influences now stimulate the imagination and a spirit of adventure. You can make this a big day if you will go all out in effort.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may face some resistance, obstacles you had not anticipated, but you can find ways to skirt them. Mostly, it will depend upon your perception and good reasoning.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Look below the surface for leads which will help you to solve problems, get ahead faster in your occupation. Creative pursuits highly favored.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Especially favored now: maritime interests, scholastic matters, research, all pursuits which stimulate the intellect.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely determined, progressive and energetic individual; are endowed with both business acumen and creative talents; are more gifted in leadership qualities than many others of your Sign and, withal, have an affable, almost jovial, personality and a delightful sense of humor.

When choosing a career, either literature or the theater may appeal to you greatly and both are splendid outlets for your talents. But you could also carve outstanding niches in the worlds of law, science, education, statesmanship or engineering. Traits to curb: Hypersensitivity, moodiness.

Polar Bears Stabilize

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Department of the Interior has reported an apparent stabilization of the world's polar bear population at a "conservative" 20,000.

According to the department's Fish and Wildlife Service, the greatest threat currently posed to the bears is oil and gas exploration, drilling and extraction on the Alaskan North Slope.

The Alaskan area is one of the six isolated spots near the north polar region where polar bears can be found.

Since 1972, polar bears in Alaska have been protected by the Marine Mammal Protection Act, which allows hunting only by Alaskan coastal natives for subsistence or for manufacture of traditional native clothing and handicrafts.

For Medicinal Purposes Only

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beer, according to an Assyrian tablet of 2,000 B.C., was one of the foods that sustained passengers on the biblical Noah's legendary Ark.

The United States Brewers Association says the tablet is the first recorded mention of the brew, which has been credited with healing powers throughout history.

Saxons, according to the association, used beer, warmed and blended with medicinal roots, to cure hiccups. Syrians used beer to induce relaxation and Arabs used it in bread as a leavening agent. Today, the drink is part of a multitude of recipes of all kinds.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Ah, but there's good news tonight. It's the new "Betty White Show" on CBS. It's funny, subtle, razor-sharp in timing, well-acted, well-directed, and it's not bad, either.

Miss W., late of the "Mary Tyler Moore" show, now plays an oft-unemployed veteran actress. She shares her home with a friend, played by gently daffy Georgia Engel, another MTM alumna.

Tonight's opener, a show within a show, has Miss White (a) happy she'll star in a series pilot "Undercover Woman," and (b) distressed to learn her ex-husband, a cold fish, will direct it.

Prior to their breakup, Miss White and the ex (played to a fine, acerbic T by John Hillerman) were wed five years. Recalls she: "We were just a couple of silly kids-I was 40, he was 42."

Now, "exactly 26 alimony checks" later, he comes to her house with words of his directing job. She greets him thusly: "I see you still have your moustache. Or did you have anchovies for lunch?" This starts a running verbal joust, just like the old days-droll in manner, acid in content, but never genuinely malicious. There even are occasional hints that this divorce may not work out.

Hint one is a scene after their first "Undercover" rehearsal, when she gets all dolled up and invites him home for dinner-ostensibly to discuss her role in the new cop series.

"I'm a little confused," she begins. "What's my motivation for the car chase?"

"I always thought it was to avoid getting machine-gunned to death," he sighs. Later, when she starts making reconciliation noises, invites him to spend the night, he declines. The reason surprises her no end.

But it's adroitly worked out in David Lloyd's script, which also includes some nifty needling of the TV industry via a bumbling CBS vice president (Alex Henteloff) in charge of "Undercover Woman."

His last post was in the mailroom. He is a bit dim. During rehearsal, upon sighting Miss White in scanty garb, he asks: "Is she supposed to be disguised as a woman of easy virtue?"

"No, a hooker," explains the long-suffering director. Others on hand tonight are huge man Charles Cyphers, Miss White's stunt double in the new cop series, and her costar in that series, Lisa Vincent (Carla Borelli), a young, busy, ambitious actress.

Lisa says she is so very happy Miss White plays the lead, not a Charlie's Angel type. She smiles sweetly: "They've finally come up with a star (the middle-aged, frumpy housewife) can identify with."

At the finale, as the anxious cast and crew of "Undercover Woman" waits to learn if CBS bought the show, our bumbling vice president in charge of it tumbles in the door.

He says his bosses call the show "lurid, tasteless, cheap..." Ah, but do they buy it? Do they sell it to ABC? Or does NBC snap it up, tone it down and change it to a science-fiction series?

Tune in Betty White's show tonight.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

'Roots' Gathers Nine Emmys

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Roots" gathered up nine Emmys in an awards show that made up for a four-month delay by being the longest in the 29-year history of the Television Academy.

The 12-hour miniseries seen on ABC last January won Emmys for best limited series, directing and writing, with acting awards going to Louis Gossett Jr., Edward Asner and Olivia Cole. The three remaining Emmys for "Roots" were in craft categories.

The Sunday night Emmy Awards Show on NBC, delayed four months by a squabble that split the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences into an Eastern National Academy and a Hollywood Academy, ran a record 3½ hours. It was 40 minutes longer than the previous longest show last year.

"As long as we're running over, let's do it good," said Angie Dickinson, who was cohost with Robert Blake for the ceremonies at the stately Pasadena Civic Auditorium.

The Hollywood Academy handed out Emmys in 42 prime time categories, with 27 Emmys going to ABC, 21 to NBC, 17 to CBS and eight to PBS.

"Eleanor and Franklin: The White House Years," won seven awards and tied with "Sybil" for outstanding dramatic special.

"Sybil" won four awards, including an award to star Sally Field, who was named best actress in a drama special for her portrayal of a woman afflicted by multiple personalities.

Dick Van Dyke's variety series, "Van Dyke and Co.," canceled by NBC last year after 11 performances, won as best variety series. "The Barry Manilow Special" was named outstanding variety special. "I'm a little angry at NBC for pre-empting us so many times," said Van Dyke. "We even got letters asking us if we were doing a special."

Ed Flanders was named outstanding lead actor in a dramatic special for his feisty portrayal of the president in "Harry S. Truman: Plain Speaking."

Beatrice Arthur, going into her sixth year as "Maude," won her first Emmy as best lead actress in a comedy series. Carroll O'Connor, whose Archie Bunker is Maude's conservative counterpart, was named best actor in a comedy series for "All in the Family."

The retiring "Mary Tyler Moore Show" bowed out after seven years by capturing the Emmy as best comedy series. Its writers also won award for her farewell performance, and the Academy paid a special tribute to the show in excerpts dating back to its beginning.

James Garner won an Emmy as best dramatic series actor for his private eye in "The Rockford Files," and Lindsay Wagner as best actress in a dramatic series for "The Bionic Woman."

Once again, Britain's "Upstairs, Downstairs" walked away with the award for best dramatic series.

Christopher Plummer, playing a corrupt banker in "The Money Changers," took the Emmy for best lead actor in a limited series. Patty Duke Astin won as best lead actress for "Captains and the Kings."

Burgess Meredith, who played lawyer Joseph Welsh, was named best supporting actor in a special for "Tail Gunner Joe" about Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Diana Hyland, who died of cancer this spring, was named outstanding supporting actress in a drama special for "The Boy in the Plastic Bubble." Her award was accepted in an emotional outpouring by John Travolta, her close friend who played her son in the movie.

Backstage, Meredith said he had been blacklisted during the Communist-hunting McCarthy era. "I was very glad when Joe Welsh came along," he said. "I was very glad that I got to play Joe Welsh."

Tim Conway was selected as the best supporting actor in a variety series for "The Carol Burnett Show," and Rita Moreno was named best supporting actress in a variety show for an appearance on "The Muppet Show."

Beulah Bondi won as best actress in a single appearance for a part on "The Waltons." Louis Gossett Jr. was named best actor for an appearance in a series for part two of "Roots."

Gary Burghoff won as best supporting actor in a comedy series for "M-A-S-H," and Mary Kay Place won for "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman."

For dramatic series, Gary Frank won as best supporting actor for "Family," and Kristy McNichol, also seen on "Family," won an Emmy as best supporting actress on her 15th birthday.

Other "Roots" winners included Edward Asner as outstanding supporting actor in a single appearance in a series for the opening episode of "Roots." Olivia Cole won as best supporting actress in a single performance in a series for the eighth and final chapter of "Roots."

12 Die In Weekend Traffic

By The Associated Press
Traffic accidents claimed 12 lives in Ohio over the weekend — seven of the deaths occurred Sunday.

The highway patrol reported three deaths Sunday in a one-car accident in Sandusky County, while a three-vehicle pileup killed two persons in Fairfield County. The sixth and seventh deaths reported Sunday occurred in separate accidents.

The Highway Patrol tabulates weekend fatalities from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY

FREMONT — Miguel D. Alcala, 24, Green Springs, Evangelina Alcala, 21, Green Springs and Randall R. Webb, 20, Clyde, when their car crashed on a Sandusky County road about six miles south of Fremont.

CINCINNATI — John B. Gaunt, II, 23, Cincinnati, in a head-on collision on Colerain Avenue.

LANCASTER — Rusty G. Foltz, 22,

SOUTHEAST

Partly cloudy tonight. Lows in the upper 50s and low 60s. Mostly cloudy Tuesday with chance of showers and thundershowers. Highs near 80. Probability of rain 20 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Tuesday.

By The Associated Press

The cloudless skies of the past few days, which have let overnight temperatures across Ohio drop into the 40s and 50s, are coming to an end.

Clouds were pushing eastward today ahead of a storm developing in the Great Plains and showers were expected in northwestern Ohio counties by evening, spreading across Ohio on Tuesday.

The past few nights were cool ones, but the lows in the upper 40s and low 50s generally were about 10 degrees above records for the date.

The cool temperatures were a result of a combination of clear skies, light winds and dry air.

The increasing cloudiness tonight was expected to keep lows in the upper 50s with highs Tuesday getting back into the 70s to around 80.

Ohio Solar Energy Assn. Will Meet

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Five solar energy experts will speak at the University of Dayton Saturday as part of a day-long public meeting of the Ohio Solar Energy Association.

The speakers will discuss energy conservation and solar system design for commercial buildings and homes.

The speakers will be Richard Pearson, Heapy Associates, Dayton; Raymond Baker, Baker Construction Co., Cincinnati; George Stickford, Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus; Joseph Cantrell, chemistry professor, Miami University; and Dale Whitford, who heads the solar energy research group at the University of Dayton Research Institute.

In 1975, a total of 1,466 deaths from boating accidents were reported by the U.S. Coast Guard. This includes 1,274 drownings and 192 deaths from other causes.

Of the 8,000 deaths by drowning in 1975, about 3,000 were related to swimming or playing in the water. The remaining 5,000 were non-swimming fatalities.

Mobile Home Office Burns

The Circleville Fire Department answered a 1:31 p.m. Sunday alarm to the Elsea Inc. Sales Lot on U.S. Route 23 North.

The report states that the blaze in the office at the sales lot was believed to have started in the restroom, perhaps from an electric timer installed there.

Employee Keith Sanders discovered the fire when he returned to the office after unlocking a display trailer. Official estimates of loss to the building and its contents have not yet been determined.

Two pieces of equipment and four firemen spent nearly two hours at the scene.

Mainly About People

Mrs. Harold Wynkoop, 345 Eva Drive, has been discharged from Mt. Carmel Medical Center, Columbus.

'Roots' Gathers Nine Emmys

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Roots" gathered up nine Emmys in an awards show that made up for a four-month delay by being the longest in the 29-year history of the Television Academy.

The 12-hour miniseries seen on ABC last January won Emmys for best limited series, directing and writing, with acting awards going to Louis Gossett Jr., Edward Asner and Olivia Cole. The three remaining Emmys for "Roots" were in craft categories.

The Sunday night Emmy Awards Show on NBC, delayed four months by a squabble that split the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences into an Eastern National Academy and a Hollywood Academy, ran a record 3½ hours. It was 40 minutes longer than the previous longest show last year.

"As long as we're running over, let's do it good," said Angie Dickinson, who was cohost with Robert Blake for the ceremonies at the stately Pasadena Civic Auditorium.

The Hollywood Academy handed out Emmys in 42 prime time categories, with 27 Emmys going to ABC, 21 to NBC, 17 to CBS and eight to PBS.

"Eleanor and Franklin: The White House Years," won seven awards and tied with "Sybil" for outstanding dramatic special.

"Sybil" won four awards, including an award to star Sally Field, who was named best actress in a drama special for her portrayal of a woman afflicted by multiple personalities.

Dick Van Dyke's variety series, "Van Dyke and Co.," canceled by NBC last year after 11 performances, won as best variety series. "The Barry Manilow Special" was named outstanding variety special.

"I'm a little angry at NBC for preempting us so many times," said Van Dyke. "We even got letters asking us if we were doing a special."

Ed Flanders was named outstanding lead actor in a dramatic special for his feisty portrayal of the president in "Harry S. Truman: Plain Speaking."

Beatrice Arthur, going into her sixth year as "Maude," won her first Emmy as best lead actress in a comedy series. Carroll O'Connor, whose Archie Bunker is Maude's conservative counterpart, was named best actor in a comedy series for "All in the Family."

The retiring "Mary Tyler Moore Show" bowed out after seven years by capturing the Emmy as best comedy series. Its writers also won award for her farewell performance, and the Academy paid a special tribute to the show in excerpts dating back to its beginning.

James Garner won an Emmy as best dramatic series actor for his private eye in "The Rockford Files," and Lindsay Wagner as best actress in a dramatic series for "The Bionic Woman."

Once again, Britain's "Upstairs, Downstairs" walked away with the award for best dramatic series.

Christopher Plummer, playing a corrupt banker in "The Money Changers," took the Emmy for best lead actor in a limited series. Patty Duke Astin won as best lead actress for "Captains and the Kings."

Burgess Meredith, who played lawyer Joseph Welsh, was named best supporting actor in a special for "Tail Gunner Joe" about Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Diana Hyland, who died of cancer this spring, was named outstanding supporting actress in a drama special for "The Boy in the Plastic Bubble." Her award was accepted in an emotional outpouring by John Travolta, her close friend who played her son in the movie.

Backstage, Meredith said he had been blacklisted during the Communist-hunting McCarthy era. "I was very glad when Joe Welsh came along," he said. "I was very glad that I got to play Joe Welsh."

Tim Conway was selected as the best supporting actor in a variety series for "The Carol Burnett Show," and Rita Moreno was named best supporting actress in a variety show for an appearance on "The Muppet Show."

Beulah Bondi won as best actress in a single appearance for a part on "The Waltons." Louis Gossett Jr. was named best actor for an appearance in a series for part two of "Roots."

Gary Burghoff won as best supporting actor in a comedy series for "M-A-S-H," and Mary Kay Place won for "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman."

For dramatic series, Gary Frank won as best supporting actor for "Family," and Kristy McNichol, also seen on "Family," won an Emmy as best supporting actress on her 15th birthday.

Other "Roots" winners included Edward Asner as outstanding supporting actor in a single appearance in a series for the opening episode of "Roots." Olivia Cole won as best supporting actress in a single performance in a series for the eighth and final chapter of "Roots."

12 Die In Weekend Traffic

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents claimed 12 lives in Ohio over the weekend — seven of the deaths occurred Sunday.

The highway patrol reported three deaths Sunday in a one-car accident in Sandusky County, while a three-vehicle pileup killed two persons in Fairfield County. The sixth and seventh deaths reported Sunday occurred in separate accidents.

The Highway Patrol tabulates weekend fatalities from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY

FREMONT — Miguel D. Alcala, 24, Green Springs, Evangelina Alcala, 21, Green Springs and Randall R. Webb, 20, Clyde, when their car crashed on a Sandusky County road about six miles south of Fremont.

CINCINNATI — John B. Gaunt, II, 23, Cincinnati, in a head-on collision on Colerain Avenue.

LANCASTER — Rusty G. Foltz, 22,

Lancaster, when his motorcycle ran off Ohio 188 in Fairfield County and struck a culvert.

SEBRING — Gladys Waffler, 80, and Kathryn Swarts, 80, both of Alliance, when their car collided with two other vehicles on a Mahoning County road north of Sebring.

SATURDAY

AKRON — Melodie Jane Vandall, 21, Akron, when the car in which she was riding crashed on Ohio 162 just west of Akron.

CELINA — Lillian Stammen, 21, rural New Weston, when the car in which she was riding collided with another at a rural Mercer County intersection.

OTTAWA — Steven R. Denuhl, 18, of Dayton, in a one-car accident on Ohio 115 in Putnam County.

LEBANON — Barbara Bilger, 26, of Kettering, when the motorcycle on which she was a passenger collided with a car on U.S. 22 in Warren County.

FRIDAY NIGHT

BUCYRUS — Gerald W. Cox Jr., 36, of Galion, in a one-car smashup on a Crawford County road near Bucyrus.

Forecast

OHIO

Mostly cloudy with chance of showers and thundershowers north and central sections tonight and partly cloudy south. Lows in the upper 50s and low 60s. Mostly cloudy with chance of showers and thundershowers Tuesday. Highs 75 to 80.

NORTHWEST INLAND

Mostly cloudy with chance of showers and thundershowers tonight and Tuesday. Lows tonight in the upper 50s. Highs Tuesday in the mid to upper 70s. Probability of rain 50 per cent tonight and Tuesday.

EAST LAKE SHORE

WEST CENTRAL

CENTRAL

NORTHEAST INLAND

Considerable cloudiness tonight and chance of showers. Lows in the upper 50s. Mostly cloudy Tuesday with chance of showers and thundershowers. Highs 75 to 80. Probability of rain 40 per cent tonight and 50 per cent Tuesday.

EAST CENTRAL

SOUTHWEST

SOUTHEAST

Partly cloudy tonight. Lows in the upper 50s and low 60s. Mostly cloudy Tuesday with chance of showers and thundershowers. Highs near 80. Probability of rain 20 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Tuesday.

By The Associated Press

The cloudless skies of the past few days, which have let overnight temperatures across Ohio drop into the 40s and 50s, are coming to an end.

Clouds were pushing eastward today ahead of a storm developing in the Great Plains and showers were expected in northwestern Ohio counties by evening, spreading across Ohio on Tuesday.

The past few nights were cool ones, but the lows in the upper 40s and low 50s generally were about 10 degrees above records for the date.

The cool temperatures were a result of a combination of clear skies, light winds and dry air.

The increasing cloudiness tonight was expected to keep lows in the upper 50s with highs Tuesday getting back into the 70s to around 80.

Ohio Solar Energy Assn. Will Meet

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Five solar energy experts will speak at the University of Dayton Saturday as part of a day-long public meeting of the Ohio Solar Energy Association.

The speakers will discuss energy conservation and solar system design for commercial buildings and homes.

The speakers will be Richard Pearson, Heapy Associations, Dayton; Raymond Baker, Baker Construction Co., Cincinnati; George Stickford, Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus; Joseph Cantrell, chemistry professor, Miami University; and Dale Whitford, who heads the solar energy research group at the University of Dayton Research Institute.

In 1975, a total of 1,466 deaths from boating accidents were reported by the U.S. Coast Guard. This includes 1,274 drownings and 192 deaths from other causes.

Of the 8,000 deaths by drowning in 1975, about 3,000 were related to swimming or playing in the water. The remaining 5,000 were non-swimming fatalities.

Mobile Home Office Burns

The Circleville Fire Department answered a 1:31 p.m. Sunday alarm to the Elsea Inc. Sales Lot on U.S. Route 23 North.

The report states that the blaze in the office at the sales lot was believed to have started in the restroom, perhaps from an electric timer installed there.

Employee Keith Sanders discovered the fire when he returned to the office after unlocking a display trailer. Official estimates of loss to the building and its contents have not yet been determined.

Two pieces of equipment and four firemen spent nearly two hours at the scene.

Mainly About People

Mrs. Harold Wynkoop, 345 Eva Drive, has been discharged from Mt. Carmel Medical Center, Columbus.

Marion F. Sowers, 129 Logan St., is presently a surgical patient in room 857, Mt. Carmel Medical Center, Columbus.

K Of P Meets

Philos Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will meet 8 p.m. tonight in the N. Court St. lodge room.

The Kroger Trim on all Beef and Pork means Better Value!

Excess fat, bone and waste are removed according to rigid Kroger standards before each cut is weighed and priced. 1/2 INCH IS TRIMMED ON BEEF, 1/4 INCH ON PORK. No wonder you get more meat for your money at Kroger!

If you're paying more than these everyday low prices, you're paying too much! Let Kroger Mini-Mize your food cost!

Friendly Service Around the Clock!
At Kroger, we pride ourselves in having the friendliest staff in town. Whether it be quick service in our Express Check-out Lane, thin sliced meats, or just a friendly smile in return, our people are at your service!

The Kroger Trim on all Beef and Pork means Better Value!

Excess fat, bone and waste are removed according to rigid Kroger standards before each cut is weighed and priced. 1/2 INCH IS TRIMMED ON BEEF, 1/4 INCH ON PORK. No wonder you get more meat for your money at Kroger!

If you're paying more than these everyday low prices, you're paying too much! Let Kroger Mini-Mize your food cost!

Tyson Chicken is Chill Packed... Never Frozen!

A lot of chicken is packed in ice. This keeps it fresh, but tends to get it soggy and waterlogged. On the other hand, shipping chickens frozen increases the risk of premature thawing. We eliminate both problems by packing and shipping Tyson Chicken direct to your store at 28° F. That's freezing to people, but not to birds. It's the optimum temperature that keeps them fresh, flavorful and firm to the touch. Ready to cook and serve, or safely freeze at home for future use.
